

NEW OFFICIALS TAKE OFFICE AT THE CITY HALL

HENRY ROGERS SUCCEEDS EVERYBODY WILL WORK FOR PLENTY OF HUSBANDS FOR LATE I. L. REQUA. GREATER OAKLAND. YOUNG WOMEN.

W. W. Garthwaite Will be Vice-President and J. Y. Eccleston Cashier of Oakland Bank of Savings.

There seems to be a prevailing impression this afternoon that Henry Rogers, who has been vice-president of the Oakland Bank of Savings for a number of years, will be elected president to succeed the late Isaac L. Requa. Of course, nothing definite has been done in the matter, as there has been no meeting to discuss the subject, and therefore no definite announcement can be made at this time.

Mr. Rogers has been connected with the Oakland Bank of Savings in various capacities for the past thirty-five years. He is able and one of the foremost and safest financiers in Alameda county.

W. W. Garthwaite will undoubtedly continue in the active management of the bank, probably under the title of vice-president. Mr. Garthwaite is known throughout the State as a very able and conservative man, not only in the departments of a savings bank, but also as a conservative commercial banker. He has been connected with the Oakland Bank of Savings for over thirty years and is recognized as one of the stable and safe financiers of the country.

In the event of Mr. Garthwaite assuming the vice-presidency, James Y. Eccleston will, in all probability, be elected cashier of the institution. Mr. Eccleston is a man of sterling worth and has been connected with the bank chiefly as loan teller and assistant cashier, for over sixteen years. Before coming to this bank, he was cashier of a bank in Arizona, and is also known throughout the community as a very energetic and conservative banker.

The Oakland Bank of Savings is one of the strongest institutions in California. Its executive and clerical force comprises well-known and safe banking leaders and clerks. Its loans and investments are gilt-edged, and its annual statement shows that it is one of the most solid institutions in California.

Inquiry at the bank for confirmation of these rumors fails to elicit any response, beyond the reply that nothing has been decided upon, as there has been no meeting of the Board of Directors, since the death of Mr. Requa.

The bank will be under the same safe, conservative management that it has been for the last quarter of a century.

Mayor Mott Accepts the Keys to Office and Promises An Active and Progressive Administration of City Affairs.

At 9:30 o'clock this morning the responsibilities of managing the affairs of a great and growing city were shifted from the bowed shoulders of Mayor Warren Olney to the broad and comparatively young shoulders of Frank K. Mott.

The making of a new Mayor was not attended by any special formalities. Former Mayor Olney was closeted with his younger successor for more than an hour, telling him of the duties and responsibilities of the office he was about to take up. After that the doors of the office were thrown open and a host of friends assembled to give welcome to the new Mayor.

THE NEW MAYOR.

The old shout of the French populace in "The king is dead, long live the king," was again revived in its Republican form. The shout of the people who thronged about the new Mayor was, "The old Mayor is out; the new is in. Long live the new Mayor."

In the parting of Warren Olney from the new Mayor there was a strain of sadness and pathos. The Mayor, who had hoped to accomplish much which would serve to perpetuate his name as a progressive executive, had come into office with promises made to the people, but he left office with those promises unfulfilled.

NO ACHIEVEMENT.

Two bond issues arose and were disposed of by the people during Olney's time. These bond issues were the pets of the administration and had been carefully nourished by Mayor Olney. When they were smothered to death by the ballots of the people Mayor Olney saw his cherished dreams crushed forever, and saw an administration which had promised much close without special achievement.

OUT OF OFFICE.

This morning when Mayor Olney handed the reins of government over to Frank K. Mott, and bowed himself out of the Mayor's office at the City Hall, the throng eager to congratulate the new executive and to secure what patronage that might fall, scarcely made way for the old Mayor and there was no one who held out a hand and William J. Hennessy. After that act he was surrounded by his friends and was given little peace until noon, when hunger took forcible hold on him and he left for lunch.

CONNOLLY NAMED.

The only appointment made by the new Mayor is that of J. J. Connolly as License Inspector in the place of D. B. Meek.

The office hours of the new Mayor will probably be from 10:30 o'clock in the morning until noon and for two or three hours in the afternoon.

TIME FOR CITY.

"Some days," said Mott, "I will give my entire attention to the city affairs. I propose to give very careful attention to the street problem, which will occupy much of my time. So that there may be perfect harmony among all concerned I will invite the heads of all departments and some of the assistants to meet at least once in two weeks in my offices to discuss the welfare of the city. I wish all of the heads of the offices to get well acquainted and thus work in harmony for the welfare of the city. By this means I will be enabled to get much valuable advice and reduce the liability of making grave mistakes to a minimum."

"I have no criticism to make of previous administrations. The very best was done by the officials, and I ### Want to Take Care of Their Farms in New Country.

BONESTEEL, S. D., April 1.—Thousands of letters from candidates for matrimony in all parts of the United States are coming to United States Land Commissioner J. D. Kellar of Bonesteel, S. D.

The writers wish information concerning the one hundred and twenty-one young women who drew fine farming homesteads in the recent opening of government land of the Rosebud Indian reservation.

The avalanche of letters is the result of a recently published interview in which Mr. Kellar intimated that many of the young women wanted husbands to help take care of the farms. The letters came from men of every age and in every walk of life.

With the exception of Arizona, Maine, New Mexico and Nevada, every state in the union is represented in the inquiries.

The bulk of the letters, however, came from New York, Maryland, Connecticut and Pennsylvania.

PRESIDENT COMPLETES CANAL COMMISSION

Theodore P. Shonts is to be at Its Head—Members Not Yet Announced.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—President Roosevelt has completed the reorganization of the Isthmian Canal Commission and the names of the members will be made Monday.

So far as the facts are concerned, they could be made public now, but Secretary Taft will not return to Washington until Sunday afternoon, and it is desired that he shall be consulted before the announcement is made.

Theodore P. Shonts, president of the Toledo, St. Louis & Western Railroad, is head of the commission. Today he notified the President that he would accept the offer made to him. Mr. Shonts came to Washington last night and conferred with William Nelson Cromwell, Secretary Morton and Col. Edwards, the head of the Insular Affairs Bureau of the War Department. He went to the White House today with Col. Edwards and had a conference with the President, who told him some of the difficulties under which the old commission had worked. Mr. Shonts had little to say on leaving the White House except to admit that he would accept the tender made him.

It is understood that the President will fix his salary at a large figure to compensate him as far as possible for the financial sacrifice he probably is making on leaving his position.

Horace G. Burt, former president of the Union Pacific railroad, who was talked of as head of the new commission, will not have a place in that body.

Mr. Shonts is to have another conference with the President at which the situation in the canal region will be talked over in detail. The President will outline the duties that are to be performed by each, and will try to arrange matters so that there will be no conflict. Mr. Theodore P. Shonts was born in Crawford county, Pennsylvania, and has been in the railroad business since 1881. He has been successively general superintendent, general manager and president of the Toledo, St. Louis & Western Railway. He is a graduate of Morningside College (Illinois) and a brother-in-law of John Drake, partner of John W. Gates.

HE WOULD NOT TAKE THE ROCKEFELLER MONEY

Dr. Gladden Would Not Take Position That Wrong Doing Should Be Condoned.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 1.—Dr. Washington Gladden today again vigorously answered H. H. Rogers, vice-president of the Standard Oil Company, regarding the gift of John D. Rockefeller, Dr. Gladden says:

"Mr. Rogers says that I would not trust the ten commandments for ten days, with the deacons of my church because they would surely break some of them and bend others. I surely would not. I hope that these commandments are in a stronger power than the deacons of any church, a power in which they will not be twisted for the benefit of Mr. Rogers or any one else."

"Mr. Rogers says that under Mr. Lincoln's emancipation proclamation slavery was legal in certain sections. But it was just as much an abomination and a curse in those regions as in the other regions where it was abolished. Mr. Lincoln did not touch it there, because he had no power. The rebates of the Standard Oil Company were just as outrageous before the law was passed forbidding them as they were afterward, and the method by which under the law the Standard Oil Company is now overpowering and oppressing its competitors is just as wrongful as were the rebates. The position that wrongdoing is to be condoned so long as it is done under cover of laws, or by evasion of the law, is one that Christian Ministers or missionary societies ought not to take."

ST. PETERSBURG REPORT OF RUSSIAN CONCESSIONS TO SECURE DESIRED PEACE

ST. PETERSBURG, April 1, 3:25 p. m.—According to the peace reports circulated on the Bourse today Russia will cede the southern portion of the island of Saghalien, in the North Pacific, off the east coast of Asia, used as a Russian convict settlement, to Japan and agree that Manchuria and Korea are permanently outside of the Russian sphere of influence, and the Eastern Chinese railroad will be turned over to Japan for cession to China or to an international syndicate upon a consideration of $125,000,000, which Japan will accept in lieu of indemnity.

fireman, F. J. Wright of Little Falls, were killed, their bodies being buried under the engine. The express messenger, John Hones, was severely hurt. No passengers were injured.

ANTI-TRUST BILL WILL BE SIGNED

LINCOLN, Neb., April 1.—The Junkin anti-trust bill, aimed at the meat packers, has passed both houses of the legislature, and will be signed by the Governor with an emergency clause. The bill seeks to make it impossible for packers to force prices down in certain localities in order to kill the competition of independent butchers. It is, in effect, a state application of the Sherman anti-trust law.

TWO KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

LOCOMOTIVE PLUNGES INTO CANAL; ENGINEER AND FIREMAN DEAD.

UTICA, N. Y., April 1.—A local passenger train on the West Shore road was derailed near Fort Plain today. The locomotive broke its couplings and plunged into the canal about forty feet below the track. The engineer, George Wilkinson of Utica, and the

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE LOSE LICENSE MONEY

New Law Cuts Money From Their Salaries—Death Blow to Eloping Lovers.

The local justices of the peace are mourning the passage of a law by the recent Legislature restricting the issuance of marriage licenses by county clerks to the counties in which either the prospective bride or groom lives, for under local conditions it means about $50 a month cut from the salaries of justices of the peace and Quinn. There are about 1000 licenses issued by County Clerk Cook each year and of these not more than 500 are for residents of this county. Owing to its proximity to San Francisco, Oakland has been a favorite resort for persons who wished to take a trip across the bay and be married, and in nearly every case of this sort a justice of the peace officiated at the ceremony. The law allows them $5 as a fee, and in many instances this was considerably increased. Figuring 500 marriages at $3 each means $1500 a year, divided between justices Geary and Quinn. It also means $1000 a year less for licenses to the county. The law was introduced by Assemblyman H. S. G. McCarty of Los Angeles, who went up to the Legislature armed with measures to restrict runaway marriages. He first introduced an amendment providing for five days' notice to be given before a license could be issued. This, however, was defeated, but he did manage to work the provision through.

EMBEZZLEMENT IS CHARGED

BANK OFFICIALS ARE ARRAIGNED IN COURT—PLEAD NOT GUILTY.

ELYRIA, O., April 1.—Cashier B. F. Kaneen, Assistant Cashier E. B. Walker and Bookkeeper Dana Walker, charged with embezzling the funds of the Citizens' Savings Bank of Lorain, were brought here and placed in the County Jail today.

Later the three men were arraigned before Justice Lord. They each pleaded not guilty, and waived a preliminary hearing.

The justice was inclined to fix the surety bonds at $10,000 in each case.

The attorneys of the men under arrest strongly urged that the bonds be fixed at $5,000, declaring that the young men were not ordinary criminals, that they had made no effort to run away, and had no intention of doing so.

Justice Lord finally decided to fix the bonds at $5,000 in each case.

The attorneys for the prisoners said that bonds would be furnished during the day.

EVERYBODY WILL WORK FOR GREATER OAKLAND

Think that the city is at the present time in a prosperous condition. I have great faith in Oakland and do not believe that we should take a back seat for any city on earth."

JAPANESE REPORT FROM FRONT

TOKIO, April 1.—The following report has been received from the headquarters of the Japanese armies in the field:

"Our force in the direction of Singking about thirty miles east of Mukden) reports that, according to information received from natives, a force of Russians and mounted bandits under Col. Madoloff, which has been assembling at Hailung, has retreated to the north. According to other natives, Kiro seems to be the place selected by the enemy for assembly.

"Our force at Weyuanpomen (about thirty-five miles northeast of Tie Pass) reports that there has been no change in the enemy's position in the vicinity of Menchouli. There are some Russian infantry and cavalry about thirty-two miles northeast of Kiyuan (twenty-five miles from Tie Pass).

ADELPHIAN CLUB'S NEW HOME

ALAMEDA ORGANIZATION PURCHASES A SITE OPPOSITE HIGH SCHOOL.

The Adelpian Club of Alameda, the foremost women's club of that city, has purchased a site for its club-house at the corner of Central avenue and Walnut street, from J. S. Young and wife. The site is located just opposite the High School and is considered one of the best locations in one of the best parts of the town and meets the requirements as nearly as the ladies could demand.

For many months the organization has been at work endeavoring to collect the necessary funds for the purchase of a site and the erection of a club-house, which is now in a fair way to be realized. The placing on record of the deed today is the first step in this direction. It is expected that it will not be long before the contract will be let for the building. The lot purchased is 50x185 feet.

WEEK TO PLEAD

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—Frank A. Maestretti, president of the Board of Public Works of this city, was today formally arraigned in Superior Judge Lawrence's court on the charge of fraudulently attempting to induce another to give false testimony, the offense for which he was indicted by the Grand Jury last week.

When the case was called Attorney Henry C. Dibble announced that he and former Governor James H. Budd were associated in the defense and Attorney H. H. Davis announced that he had withdrawn. After the arraignment was granted, continuance of one week was granted.

Detective McNaught of New York, who yesterday secured the extradition papers at Columbus, arrived during the night and was present in court. The writ of habeas corpus, which was sworn out yesterday, is not returnable until Monday.

Today's arraignment was simply a formal matter, the hearing being at once adjourned until April 4, in order to await the action of the common pleas court on the writs of habeas corpus.

BERLIN SIDE OF RELIGIOUS MATTER

GERMANY DOES NOT TRUST FRANCE TO PROTECT GERMAN TRADE.

BERLIN, April 1.—The Berlin side of the Moroccan controversy is founded on a treaty of which Article 1 reads:

"Continuing and unchanging friendship shall exist between His Majesty, the German Emperor, and His Majesty, the Sultan of Morocco, and between their empires and their subjects. Between both empires shall the present freedom of trade continue and for this purpose, each of the high contracting parties bond itself to give and to secure to the subjects of the other all rights, advantages and privileges now or in the future held by the most favored nation."

This is the treaty of 1891, which, under its terms, might have been revised in 1896, but was not revised and runs without limitation and without any provision for its denunciation. Such a contract with Morocco cannot of right be dissolved or impaired, it is asserted by the German government by the agreement between France and Great Britain, to which Germany is not a signatory.

Germany declines altogether to recognize France as having any more dominant position in Morocco than Germany.

As to whether France informed Germany of the agreement with Great Britain has been fully discussed in the French and British press. The German foreign office regarded Foreign Minister Delcasse's conversation with Prince von Radolin, the German Ambassador, as being no more than "tea table talk," very interesting, but as not supplying the place of an official communication, which would have called for an official reply.

Prince von Radolin's passive and receptive attitude towards M. Delcasse cannot, it is said at the Foreign Office here, be accepted as the German government's assent to the Franco-German agreement. Germany does not trust to France to protect German trade. She prefers rather to deal with the Sultan.

The German Ambassador to the United States, Baron Speck von Sternberg, under instructions from the Foreign Office has explained to the State Department at Washington that Germany stands for the open door in Morocco. Germany has not asked the United States to do anything, nor have negotiations of any sort been begun or proposed. Germany does not expect the United States to do anything, but she desires that it should be known in Washington that the basis of her action in Morocco is the open door to trade. This phrase "open door" has become a part of German speech. It is used in the Reichstag with the definition Secretary Hay gave it.

SIGHT STEAMER ON MAIDEN VOYAGE

HALIFAX, N. S., April 1.—The Allen line steamer Victorian was sighted off this harbor on her maiden voyage from Liverpool this forenoon.

Great interest has developed in connection with the Victorian's coming on account of her being fitted with turbine engines, and a government delegation from Ottawa has come here to meet her.

The Victorian was built for the Liverpool-Montreal route, but as the St. Lawrence river is still closed by ice the vessel on this trip will land her freight and most of her passengers at St. John.

The steamer has on board about 1,500 passengers, nearly all of whom are bound for the West.

WAGON DRIVERS GO ON A STRIKE

ST. LOUIS, April 1.—A general strike of ice and coal wagon drivers was instituted here today, having been called at a meeting of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters last night for the purpose of forcing the signing of a contract guaranteeing last year's scale of wages. Practically every coal and ice wagon driver in St. Louis has quit work, and many hotels and large consumers were forced to make their own deliveries. It is estimated that 1100 men are out.

JUDGE SENDS WOMAN TO JAIL

Mary Maloney was this morning sentenced to serve twelve days in jail on a charge of drunkenness and of disturbing the peace. She is accused by Mrs. Mary Silver of having called at her residence on Fifth street and to have awakened all the lodgers by her boisterous conduct. It is only when Mrs. Maloney is under the influence of liquor that she acts in an offensive way.

According to Mrs. Silver she waits until there is no policeman in sight, and then descends on the house and beats the windows, doors, tears her hair and otherwise creates a disturbance.

ALLEGED MURDERER IS STILL HELD BY CHIEF OF POLICE HODGKINS.

Earl Roy Bodine, the self-confessed murderer, whose claims in respect to his criminal record are looked on with suspicion by the police, is still in prison, although the authorities in Maine where the alleged murder is supposed to have been committed do not want the prisoner. He has been in prison more than two weeks with any charge being made against him.

Bodine confessed after the great religious revival. On being accused of being a professional thief in the religious line he became very angry and when identified as a fakir by a preacher who had known him in the East Bodine said that he would like to punch the reverend gentleman's face.

Chief of Police Hodgkins states that he will give Bodine a time in jail just so that the prisoner may think that he is explaining his alleged murder.

Bodine says that he murdered a fellow tramp and threw him into the river.

READY FOR TRAVEL TO YOSEMITE VALLEY

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—The Wawona route to Yosemite Valley was opened today and in anticipation of a large amount of travel to the Valley the Southern Pacific Company has inaugurated a sleeping car service from San Francisco, leaving here every afternoon. The United States government is making preparations to take charge of Yosemite as a result of the recession of the Valley to the government by the State Legislature. The Yosemite Valley Commissioners who held office under the State are preparing to contest the validity of the recession, but the United States authorities are going ahead with arrangements for control of the valley. There has been an immense amount of snow in the mountains during the winter and the Yosemite streams and falls are full of water.

TAFT MAY MAKE COLTON THE CHIEF

WASHINGTON, April 1.—It is quite probable that when Secretary Taft returns he will designate G. R. Colton as chief of the Dominican Collection system, and that three or more assistants, who have had some experience in the insular possessions, will be appointed to perform the work of collecting the Dominican revenues under Mr. Colton's supervision. Mr. Gould of Baltimore, after discussing the matter with officials here, decided better results would obtain from the selection of a man like Mr. Colton because of the experience Mr. Colton had had in the Philippines, and his familiarity with people similar to those in San Domingo. Mr. Gould's position was that the selection of a man should be made with regard to the interests of the government, and for that reason he will not accept the position. Mr. Gould could have had one of the subordinate positions, but he did not care to go to San Domingo in that capacity.

TO CURE A GOLD IN ONE DAY

THE ARGONAUT.

The most notable feature of the Argonaut for April 30, which is to be a copiously illustrated number, will be a letter from Jerome A. Hart on San Sebastian, entitled "A Seaside Spanish Spa." It tells of the pleasure resorts of Spain, with all their humorous and curious incidents and traditions, their stock of gay, idle folk from France, England, and America, who flee before the cold weather of the north. One of the illustrations of the article shows King Alfonso's mother out driving behind a team of four handsome mules. One scarcely thinks of a royal equine as being drawn by that humble quadruped which has been wittily said, "has no pride in ancestry and no hope in posterity."

Other notable contributions to this number will be a New York letter by Geraldine Bonner, describing Mrs. Leslie Carter's new play, "Adre," which has created such a sensation in the metropolis this winter; a story, "Love at Low Tides," by Edgar Allan Poe; a literary sketch of the career of the late theatrical magnate, A. M. Palmer; and extended reviews with extracts of "DeProfundis," the new published work written in prison by Oscar Wilde; and Geraldine Bonner's new novel of California, "The Pioneer," which is highly amusing; a dramatic article will deal with Margaret Anglin in "Zira," and Dustin Farnum in "The Virginian."

GEORGE FITZGERALD WILL BE ELECTED CHAIRMAN OF COUNCIL MONDAY NIGHT.

Councilman Edwin Meese has decided that on Monday evening next, when the new Council convenes, that the question of the chairmanship shall go to a vote.

At the caucus held on Thursday night last George Fitzgerald was made the caucus nominee for this position by a vote of four to three, Meese receiving three votes.

If the present line-up of the Councilmen is undisturbed on Monday evening the result, although there will be two more Councilmen present, will be the same. Councilman Elliot, who was absent at the caucus, is a Meese man, and Councilman W. A. Donaldson, who was also absent, is a Fitzgerald man. When asked this morning if he would support the caucus nominee Meese said: "I have not changed my mind since the caucus. The chairmanship fight remains in the same condition as it was then. The matter will probably go to a vote."

EDWIN JACKSON TOOK PICTURE

The photograph of David Kinty, which appeared in last night's TRIBUNE, was taken by Edwin Jackson, the well-known artist.

ESTATE MATTERS

An inventory and appraisal of the estate of the late Nicholas E. Toussaint was filed today by Max Marcuse, J. L. Egan and Henry Hubert, who say the estate is worth but $525. They ask no fees for their work.

The final account of Amelia Leech as executrix of the estate of her husband, George Leech, has been allowed.

Public Administrator George Gray has been granted letters of administration on the estate of the late E. P. Carpenter. The value of the estate is unknown. He was also appointed administrator of the estate of the late Pietro Pisotti.

Henry Willy has been appointed by Judge Ogden as the legal guardian of Neida E. Leonora, Mildred L. Henry B. and Emory Evers.

The sale of personal property belonging to the estate of the late Isabel L. Alton by Lorna E. Alton for $300 was approved today by Judge Ogden.

Margaret M. Conesidine was appointed administratrix of the estate of her late husband, James Conesidine, who died recently without leaving a will. He has both real and personal property of unknown value.

Martin Leveira, of San Leandro has filed a petition to be appointed administrator of the estate of his father, the late Jose Leveira of San Leandro. He states that all the property belonging to the estate so far as he has been able to discover consists of about $1500.

Mrs. M. G. Shear, the surviving widow of the late Charles B. Shear, has had set apart to her and her children the home at 1050 First avenue and $50 a month out of the moneys of the estate for their maintenance. By the final account of his administration of the estate of the late Bernard Laffey it is set forth by John R. Hodge that he has received from the estate the sum of $140 and expended the sum of $193.55. He waives all fees and asks that the account as it stands be allowed. There are certain pieces of realty in this city and in Hayward which he asks be set aside to the widow.

In her third annual account of her guardianship of the person and estate of Ralph Tappan, a minor, Jessie Tappan shows that she has received from the estate in the past year the sum of $1,539.66 and paid out the sum of $275.21, leaving a balance on hand of $1,264.45.

A petition to have set apart to her an allowance of $205 a month from the estate of the late Thomas Ronaldson has been filed by his widow, Mary A. Ronaldson. The estate of deceased is valued at $25,372 and there are no debts.

The final accounting of Julius C. Henkenius as guardian of the person and estate of Kulumann Henkenius has been filed by him and it shows that he has received $216.72 and expended a like amount, which more he asks that he be discharged from further service.

Special letters of administration on the estate of the late Frank Silva have been applied for by Manuel Silva, who states that there will probably be a delay in the probating of the estate.

Dora L. H. Rumford has been appointed administratrix of the estate of the late Isaac E. Rumford.

SIGHTS RUSSIAN WARSHIPS.

ISLAND OF PERIM, Straits of Babel Mandab, April 1.—The British cruiser "Pheasant," which arrived here today from the north, reports having passed, March 30, a Russian squadron of five warships, four transport ships and a hospital ship. The Russian hospital ship, "Kostroma," bound for Jibuti, French Somaliland, arrived here today and is taking on coal and water.

The vessel sighted by the Prometheus probably comprised the division of the Russian second Pacific squadron, commanded by Admiral Nebogatov.

Sheriff Veale Keeps Up Search For the Highwayman.

MARTINEZ, April 1.—New Sheriff Veale has kept up his search for Tom Collins, who wanted as an accomplice in the $10,000 Stege robber has proved unavailing. Sheriff Veale is laying systematic plans for the capture of the highwayman. Four men have been placed to work in the office of the Sheriff preparing circulars which will be broadcast throughout the United States.

The circulars contain a complete description of Collins and a good likeness of him. These are now being rushed to all parts of California and Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico. As soon as the word of distribution in the nearby states is completed the letters containing the descriptions will be forwarded to every sheriff and all the police headquarters in the country.

As an incentive for the arrest of the much wanted criminal, the circular state that $1000 will be paid for the arrest and conviction of Collins and that $1000 additional will be given for the recovery of the $9000 which was carried away. A prorate of the reward for the stolen money will be paid any amount that is recovered. Rewards are to be paid by the American Bankers' Association.

P. F. Benson, the attorney for Zimmerman, one of the highwaymen, was captured in San Francisco and brought to the county jail here, a preserves his taciturn demeanor. He always pleasant to his jailors and ready to talk on nearly every subject. He steadfastly refuses to discuss robbery at Stege. He becomes irritable when questions are asked him on subject and still denies acquaintance with Collins. He also still refuses to confess that he wrote the letter to Collins that was found in his room.

PRISON FOR LIFE

Bemis was separated from his wife as she had been earning her own living, when he returned to this city from Los Angeles, and found her working on Stockton street. There he followed her day, having a drunken quarrel, and killed her. He then made an unsuccessful attempt at suicide. After his conviction he feigned insanity but was unaided and pronounced sane.

OXFORD WINS BIG COAT RACE

Easily Defeats Cambridge in the Annual Contest.

LONDON, April 1.—Oxford today won the sixty-second annual boat race between the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge, defeating the latter by three to four lengths.

The race was rowed in beautiful weather. There was not a ripple on the water and the wind was very light. Consequently there was not much advantage in the choice of stations. This contest, always attractive, drew an unusually large crowd today, as the waterside experts had all prophesied the best race in years, owing to the evenness of the crews. The prophecy, however, was not fulfilled. Oxford speedily taking the lead and heading the procession to the finish.

Cambridge won the toss and selected the Surrey side of the river. The boats got away to a splendid start at 11:52 a. m., but Bucknall set Oxford a smashing stroke of 38 to the minute, and almost immediately established a lead which was never lost.

When Crawl Steps were reached the Oxonians were a few lengths to the front and the cheering of their supporters on the river banks was something to be long remembered. Both crews were still rowing strong, but the dark blues (Oxford) continued to come away, and soon had two lengths' advantage.

Passing the Saccharine Works, Taylor (Cambridge) called on the light blues, who made a gallant response and closed the gap by half a length. But the dark blues' stroke soon shook off their rivals, Oxford quickly regaining the lost advantage and adding to their lead.

Off Chiswick it was evident that the race had already been decided. Some of the Cambridge crew showed signs that they were weakening, but Taylor made another effort with a stroke somewhat faster than that of Oxford. It was not well pulled through, however, and a lack of rhythm was manifested. Thereafter the leaders were never pressed and passed the ship at Most Lake the easiest of winners by three lengths. Time, twenty minutes thirty-five seconds.

Look up the apartment house, corner of Nineteenth and Franklin. Open Sundays.

KINIRY EXPECTS A PARDON

Convicted Murderer Leaves For Folsom--Will Write a Novel.

P. David Kiniry went away from the County Jail this morning for his future home at Folsom Prison, where he has been sentenced to spend the remainder of his life for the murder of Policeman James H. Smith. Last night in conversation with Deputies White and Clark, Kiniry said that he was not the one who fired the shot that killed Smith. He also told them that he had turned over a new leaf and that he never intended to try and escape from prison.

Kiniry, in company with many others, believes he has a gift for story writing, and that when he gets to Folsom he is going to devote himself to this work. He says that he intends to spend much of his time in the prison library in trying to improve himself, for, he said, "I think that before a great many years I will be able to get a pardon."

Notwithstanding his new resolutions he went away carefully guarded in the company with Deputy Sheriff George Wales and a full escort, to one of whom he will be handcuffed the entire way to Folsom. Not only were these precautions taken, but the Oregon boat purchased by the late Sheriff John Bishop was fitted to Kiniry's leg, and that he is believed impossible for him to attempt escape without being killed. He will reach Folsom this evening.

TOWN TALK

There is a lot of good reading in this week's Town Talk. The editor calls for one local opinion and leaders of culture, the linguists of society and the lion society entertainers, tell stories about Henry James, the late James Barrymore, Corried and Max Hirsch, and President Wheeler of the University of California. The editor of the county gossip, about engagements formed and betrothals broken, and political paragraphs, about William Wittern, Billy Bourn and others. There is a spic review of a spy novel, by Mr. Cowley Brown, who is the editor of the "Globe Quill." Harry Cowell has an essay, and Theodore Bonner an article upon "Farsfall." And new plays are given, and an amusing feature, a fake interview with a theatrical star. The financial column has been enriched by the latest news from the inside. The "Looker On" reviews Gertrude Atherton's latest work. Illustrations are another feature. The "Globe Quill" has a cartoon by Carolan Kreissler, Frank Worthing, John Craig, Lionel Barrymore, Adelaide Fritsch, George F. Webster, and Bertha Walsinger.

THAT BRIGHT PAPER.

There are some interesting items about the Bohemian Club and the California Club in this week's issue of the San Francisco News Letter. Its first page paragraphs are more pointed and more timely than usual. The editorials show much reading and vigorous thought. "The Looker On" is brimful of clever stories about men and things that have escaped the attention of the dailies. Great interest is taken just now in the automobile and the News Letter's "Automobile News" is most complete. Its financial review contains many interesting pointers and in the current issue is overflowing with splendid reading and great variety.

HOUSES SEARCHED BY MASKED MEN

HELSINGFORS, Finland, April 1.—The populace is greatly aroused by the renewal of ransacking of lodgings-houses and gassed the inmates and searched everything. The people suspect that they are agents of the police, but this the latter indignantly deny. No arrests, however, have been made.

SUN AND SNOW Sometimes Help the Hair To Go.

In any changeable climate the hair is apt to become brittle and to break off stubby here and there. This makes a hair-dressing almost a necessity, especially to ladies. In using a hair-dressing why not get the best one that comes within the efficiency in killing the dandruff germ, the germ that eats the hair off at the roots, causing what is called falling hair, and in a baldness. Newbro's "Herpicide" is that kind of a hair dressing. You have never seen how delightful your scalp will feel, and how stylish your hair will appear, after an application or two of Herpicide. It is certainly a wonderful medicine, and a scalp antiseptic and hair-dressing. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10 cents in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Company, Detroit, Michigan. # NOTE OF WARNING

Haggard Says Orientals May Conquer This Country.

BERKELEY, April 1.—H. Rider Haggard, noted reformer and writer of romance, delivered an address before an audience of several thousand people in Harmon Gymnasium at the University of California this morning. His remarks, while informal, were vivid and stirring. He drew a powerful picture of the evils that follow the overthrow of the great empire of England and America. He said that the congested condition of the city life is responsible for race suicide, and that the most serious danger to the future of our people, due to the presence of great hordes in the cities is stopped, we will be in danger of being swept off the face of the earth by the forces of existence by a conquering Eastern people. In introducing the famous novelist, President Wright said: "Mr. Haggard does not regard himself so much a novelist as a reformer. His object in life is to better the masses—the poor degraded wretches living in the squalor of the large cities. It cannot be said too forcibly that society depends entirely on the maintenance of the family. And it is certain that the crush of the city is fatal to the purity and integrity of the race. This is Mr. Haggard's work—the uplifting of the masses, the family, and indirectly society."

Mr. Haggard is capable of talking to us on any subject. As an Englishman of the old school, he is full of the virtues of the rural districts of the country. His words will be of interest to us, I suppose to you the English country squire."

During the course of his remarks, Mr. Haggard said: "Many of you have heard of me as a novelist, as a writer of fiction, of romance, that has been my occupation, and I am neither going to deny or magnify that vocation. The books I write may have a certain value. And they may amuse or they may instruct. But other times they may convey valuable lessons."

CONDITIONS IN SLUMS.

"In England, today, the conditions in the slums of the cities are terrible. The divided people of the Western world must stop this conglomeration of people in a few large cities, and the danger that race suicide of the most aggravated type will follow. But there is a still greater danger to us, and that is the loss of this great evil is remedied the people of the Orient who are not afflicted with the same racial prejudice as we are, as they have done in the past. We need but read history to be convinced of this. The men of Asia are men who are strong in the virtues of the Orient. They are not oppressed by the evils of the masses in the slums. If the West is to survive, it must learn from the East, and in the past it is essential that they abandon the habit of living in the dust and filth of the slums."

TASK OF REFORM.

"What is the remedy? Some people think that there is no remedy. I for one do not think so. There are many remedies. I am here as a representative of the British government to investigate the conditions of this evil, and in these colonies I think I have found the key to the solution. The task of reform is a great one, and I hope that all of you may have an opportunity to assist in the advancement of the movement."

WORLD STILL ROMANTIC.

At the conclusion of his remarks, in his colonization schemes, Mr. Haggard drew a few general remarks on the state of to-day and examples of individual who become great through the firmness of their ideals and singleness of purpose. "We are told nowadays that the world is very unromantic," he said. "I do not think so. Not the least bit. Look at some of the men of today. Look at Charles Gordon who perished at Khartoum. What a romantic figure! Look at Cecil Rhodes. What a personality he became. I do not mean to say that the world is any less romantic than it was. It is more romantic than the entire area of the United States. Look on General Booth of the Salvation Army. He began with a single man, and he has done great things. Today he is the leader of the greatest charitable organization of the world."

"Great achievements can be won by all of you if singleness of purpose and high ideals attend your endeavor."

WEST OAKLAND INSURANCE MEN YARD NEWS IN SESSION

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC EMPLOYEES.

CONFERENCE OF OPPOSING INTERESTS RESUMED—NO SETTLEMENT.

WEST OAKLAND YARDS, April 1.—Out at the Southern Pacific Company's long wharf, several ships have arrived from various ports. Mostly lumber and shingles compose their cargoes, most of which comes from Seattle and Tacoma.

Steamship Eureka, after unloading her cargo, commenced loading with cement, which has been manufactured by local factories.

Steamship Centennial is unloading her cargo of lumber. The lumber comes from Washington ports.

A little sugar is still being handled at the wharf.

Steamship New Burg is unloading lumber.

The sailing vessel Alice, which arrived two days ago from England, with a cargo of coke, had quite an experience in circling the horn. The chief mate this morning said:

"We had a rough sea during all the days we were hugging the Horn. There were several times that the ship was in danger. Once a huge wave came tearing over the front bow of the ship, some thirty feet high, reaching the first crossbar on the front mast, and coming down, covered the whole deck with two feet of water. But luckily all the port holes were closed, so that no damage was done."

NO EVIDENCE OF BRIBERY FOUND

LINCOLN, Neb., April 1.—The committee of the State Senate appointed to investigate the alleged attempt to raise a $5,000 boodle fund with which to secure the passage of the biennial election bill, extending the tenure of county and state officials one year, today made a report, finding that no member of the Senate had been directly or indirectly connected with the alleged attempt at bribery.

The report says, however, that the evidence shows that an attempt was made by a number of county officials to raise a fund to be used in lobbying the bill through the Senate, which attempt originated in the city of Omaha and is all traceable to some county official in Douglas county, or property to Treasurer Pink and his employee, J. H. Whisparr.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN LEAVES HIS PLOW

He expressed great hopes for the future, declaring his belief that Democracy had united and that its unity meant everything to the party. Mr. Bryan will deliver the principal address at the banquet.

Shucks—and Little Else

Everybody in Oakland without regard to class, creed, race, sex or previous condition of servitude is delighted with the valedictory of Warren Olney, Mayor that was. It is the past tense that provokes universal joy. It was not what the whilom Mayor said on yielding up the office he occasionally entered on his way to and from his law office in San Francisco that has caused popular rejoicing. It is the fact that it marks the close of his administration instead of the beginning; that it was a valedictory instead of an inaugural.

At the historic meeting of President Lincoln and the Confederate Peace Commissioners, Mr. Lincoln watched with mingled amazement and amusement Alexander H. Stephens, who weighed ninety pounds in ordinary dress, strip himself of some half-dozen overcoats, a comforter and a shawl. Alluding to the incident afterward the President said humorously:

"It was the biggest shuck to the smallest ear of corn I ever saw." At the close of his administration Mayor Olney stands before the community fully shucked. As Mr. Lincoln said of the Georgia statesman, he is the smallest ear of corn they ever saw encased in so much shuck. His administration has been all shuck. The considerable nubbin left will never again excite public interest in this city or be regarded as anything more than a whimsical travesty of what it was once supposed to be.

The people of Oakland have had a surfeit of shucks. They have seen layer after layer peeled off, continually cherishing the hope with the removal of each layer that the real grain had been at last reached. But the shucking process went on till the very end. At the close of an administration which began with signal promise and practically without opposition there is nothing to show but a pile of shucks and a void which now excites wonder.

Never before has there been such a complete collapse of a bladder distended with conceit and pretension, such a pathetic failure to meet public expectation or answer the rudimentary requirements of an executive office. The man who called on public opinion to rise and assert itself proved himself to be absolutely indifferent to public opinion. In its moral aspect, the money he drew as Mayor of the city was not far removed from money obtained under false pretenses. He systematically neglected the duties he was sworn to fulfill, habitually absented himself from the office he was paid to fill, exhibited a contemptuous disregard of the obligations he assumed when he took the office of Mayor. Arrogant, vain, narrow, petulant and censorious, he exalted himself in his own eyes while he fell and dwindled in the eyes of the citizens who had selected him without regard to party to lead and stimulate the cause of civic betterment and municipal improvement.

But Mayor Olney did nothing but let the husks drop from him. What is left is not worth considering save as something to point a moral. Nothing from nothing leaves nothing. That is the equation of the Olney administration.

Shucks! More Shucks!! Nothing but Shucks!!! Let the band strike up "We Don't Care If You Never Come Back." The cause for rejoicing is abundant. When you are gold-bricked, it is wise to be thankful it was no worse.

General Linevitch's proclamation to his troops is not calculated to increase the betting odds in his favor.

No wonder race suicide flourishes. The rich admonish the poor that they have no right to have children, yet they refuse to breed themselves.

From the Government crop report it appears that the cotton crop of 1904 was nearly 14,000,000 bales of 500 pounds each. At eight cents a pound this crop would bring to the planters about $560,000,000 for the lint alone, and but little cotton has been sold for less than eight cents, though it is estimated that from two to three million bales still remain in the hands of the farmers, and their factories. But the seed from this enormous crop is worth at present prices fully $100,000,000, so that the cotton crop of 1904 means an enormous inflow of ready money to the South. And it must be borne in mind that nearly all of it goes into eleven States, since Virginia, Kentucky and Missouri produce only a very little cotton, and Maryland none at all. It seems that the high prices realized for the crop of 1903 caused a large increase in acreage to be planted to cotton. As the season was a fairly good one, the yield was a bumper crop, with the result that the price dropped three or four cents a pound. A twelve million bale crop would have sold for more money than one nearly 2,000,000 bales larger. Paradoxically the Southern planters have lost money by raising too big a crop.

It is to be hoped that the movement to improve the streets will not end with whitewashing the street department.

Commander Peary has named his new Arctic steamer "The Roosevelt." Probably the trust magnates would like to see her name-sake take passage in her for the north pole.

On Legislation by the Mob

The Stockton Mail insists that its proposition to abolish the Legislature is not a proposition to abolish a republican form of government in California. Nevertheless that is just what the Mail's suggestion involves. Our contemporary proposes to substitute for the Legislature a council of ten or twelve members, who are to be guided by the initiative and referendum. This wipes out representative government and its check of the veto power of the Governor. Legislation as it is now practiced will be a thing of the past. Of course the constitution would have to be destroyed and one more elastic substituted.

Why not go back to couch-shell voting and the primitive methods of the Athenian democracy?

Lest our Stockton friend deem this suggestion flippant, we hasten to assure him that we are in earnest—at least as earnest as the subject will permit.

The Legislature has developed many shortcomings, but when it is proposed to change a faulty system for another it is first necessary to inquire whether the change will be beneficial, whether the system it is proposed to institute will work any better than the one it is proposed to abolish. The Mail wants the popular voice to express itself on every question of legislation and expenditure. For practical reasons the proposition is inadmissible. In practice it would be legislation by the mob, uninformed and controlled by passing emotions and transitory prejudices.

The Mail says the legislative power is now virtually lodged in the Governor. This statement is so wide of the fact that it is hardly necessary to refute it. The Executive in no sense legislates, though the practice of recent years has given into his hands the power of selection to an undue degree. The duty of choosing the best of a mass of crude legislation has been thrust upon him, not sought, but it makes his veto power absolute.

This is not the fault of the present system of representative government and only partially the fault of the Legislature. It is partially the fault of the people and partially the fault of the clause in the constitution limiting sessions to a term of sixty days. Legislatures are to blame to some extent also for being dilatory and for purposely casting responsibility on the Governor by neglecting to act on important bills till the closing days of the session. The late Legislature is not so much to blame in this respect, however, as some of its predecessors. It was compelled to face an extraordinary amount of work, and legislation proper was greatly hampered and delayed by the bribery scandal in the Senate and the collateral questions growing out of the building and loan investigation.

On the whole the Legislature acquitted itself fairly. It failed to pass some good bills, but it passed very few really bad ones. The quality of its work was above the average of recent years, and the course of legislation was unusually free from reproach.

Obviously the correction of the shortcomings so pronounced in legislative procedure is not to chuck the constitution, the Legislature and the whole system of representative government overboard, but to improve the personnel of the Legislature, and extend the session limit.

Our Stockton contemporary says, in effect, that representative government is a failure because the people will not elect the right kind of men to the Legislature. This impeaches the capacity of the people for self-government, for if they cannot be trusted to vote for men how can they be trusted to vote for measures? Indeed, the initiative and referendum system would never bring out a full vote save on rare occasions. Look at the vote cast on the constitutional amendments at the last general election. Compare the returns of the vote cast at bond elections, if any further evidence be needed to prove that the people are themselves to blame for the shortcomings of the Legislature, with the vote cast for officials.

More than half the voters will not take the trouble to inform themselves regarding proposed changes in the organic law or to vote thereon. Yet the Stockton Mail would charge this mass of careless ignorance and incivism with the duty of legislating by piecemeal. The argument advanced to support this proposition defeats itself, because, for it proves, if it proves anything, that the people are unfit to be trusted with choosing representatives, let alone legislating themselves. The general neglect of citizens to vote when the referendum is submitted to them is conclusive proof that the initiative and referendum would speedily degenerate into rule by a small minority making a profession of politics.

WHAT PARENTS OWE TO THEIR CHILDREN

We hear and read so much of what the child owes the parents, that it is well to keep in mind the fact that parents owe much to the child. Their duty is not done when the child has been fed, clothed, and sent to school, although many parents think they have done all that God or man demands when this task is accomplished.

It is right to exact obedience from a child and show him why it is best to do certain things. The pert and precocious child is never obedient. He thinks himself above the law of obedience, and grows into a disagreeable young person who makes no friends.

Parents owe it to the children to make of them men and women whom all will delight to honor. This must be done by both precept and example. It is useless to tell a boy it is wrong to gamble, and then play cards for stakes in his presence. The precocious child will always see a chance of making money in an easy way, and before he is old enough to gamble in cards he will use his marbles and playthings as a source of revenue. He learned the fundamental principle from his parents and they have only themselves to blame.

The parents owe it to the child to teach him honesty, not because it is the best policy, but because it is right. The child should be taught to respect the belongings of every member of the family. Honestly begins there. These belongings are not common property, and he should be made to understand this, nor should he be permitted to impose upon his playmates, and rob them of their toys. Their marbles and other playthings must not be obtained fraudulently, unless the parents are willing to see him grow up without honor and principle. The precocious boy can usually "get on in the world," but he does not always accomplish it fairly.

If parents indulge in liquors in the presence of the child, they can scarcely expect him to grow into a sober man. If he does, it is by sheer force of his own good sense and principle. Precept and example must be the motto of the parents. They cannot follow "The primrose path of dalliance," and expect the child to climb "the steep and thorny way to heaven." Shakespeare taught us more wisely than that.

The life of the parents must be one of self-denial, and a renunciation of everything that makes life pleasant, if that be necessary to the proper training of the child. He who is so brought up surely will never go astray. It is usually the pert boy, who feels that he is just a little wiser than his parents, who becomes the bragging, irresponsible man.

The child will often place the blame of some personal shortcoming on the parents as an excuse for himself. Said I to a boy one day:

"Why do you smoke? Your father did not use tobacco."

"No," he replied, "I inherit my taste from my grandfather."

That was not a manly nor a kind thing to say, but he was one of the irresponsible who put upon the shoulders of others his own shortcomings. He was a precocious boy who reasoned for himself.

After all, the highest ambition of parents for the child should not be to make of him the most brilliant and successful man, but the best and kindest. Kindness is one of the things to be prayed for every day.—From "Maiden"

A LENTEN HAZARD

In Lent she turns from gayeties
And greets me with a pensive air;
She frowns on worldly revelries
And hunts out sadder things to wear;
Not that her faith enjoins her thus
The righteous pathway to pursue,
But merely (this between just us)
It is "the proper thing to do."

In Lent there are no suppers I
Must pay for when the curtains fall;
The cables oft must wonder why
I summon them no more at all;
From worldly pleasures she withdraws,
Not that her creed compels her to,
Or that she's pious, but because
It is "the proper thing to do."

In Lent a bunch of violets
Is all she costs me day by day;
In Lent I settle up the debts
That I have long been urged to pay.
She ceases for a while to "pour,"
She turns from teas and dances, too,
Because, as has been said before,
It is "the proper thing to do."

In Lent about three times a week
I sit alone with her at night
And wonder if I ought to speak
The words I long have hoped I might
I rather like her pensiveness,
Her coy, expectant manner, too;
To speak or not—oh, well, I guess
It is the proper thing to do.

—S. E. Kiser.

AMATEUR ACTRESS REFUSED TO KISS THE STAGE HERO DURING LENT

FREELAND, Pa., April 1.—The abhorrence of pretty Gertrude Keck to public occlusion has caused consternation in the ranks of the Freeland Dramatic Company and almost shattered the dramatic aspirations of John Schaefer, an amateur playwright of this town.

Schaefer abandoned the printer's case some time ago to have more time to develop the histrionic talents which he believed he possessed. His maiden effort was a military drama. The author organized a dramatic company from the best amateur talent in the town and made arrangements to produce his new play in the Freeland Opera House the first week in April.

Miss Keck, a girl endowed with considerable dramatic talent, pleasing address, good voice and fine elocutionary powers, was assigned to the part of "leading lady" by the playwright, who reserved for himself the role of hero.

Everything progressed nicely until the "leading lady," animated by some inscrutable feminine impulse, refused to kiss the hero at the impressive point in the grand climax. It was a hard setback, but Schaefer sized up to the requirements of the occasion by releasing Miss Keck and calling for a volunteer to fill her place.

The other girls sympathized with the author, and a number of them volunteered to take the role and Miss Schaefer before the footlights without any reservation. Miss Edith Farrar, daughter of Professor G. C. Farrar, was appointed by Schaefer to fill the vacancy.

The deposed star gave no reason for her action, except that she is opposed to kissing on general principles, especially during the Lenten season. Schaefer felt elated over the manner in which the other girls came to his rescue, and as a token of his appreciation gave them a theater party at the opera house last evening.

THESE MEN ORGANIZE "SIMPLE LIFE CLUB"

ST. LOUIS, April 1.—The philosophy of living as enunciated by Charles Wagner in his book on "The Simple Life" has already enlisted enthusiastic adherents. Last Saturday afternoon five thoughtful St. Louisans organized "The Simple Life Club," and filed articles of incorporation Wednesday in the Circuit Court.

Although the name of the club indicates that its members intend to lead a simple and pastoral existence, the president of the club, Charles R. Spicer, energetically denies any such assumption.

When seen in his room at the Criterion Hotel Thursday morning he explained the purpose of the club to a Post-Dispatch reporter.

"Although we get our name from Wagner's book," he said, "we have no intention of leading lamb-like lives. We simply wanted to form a simple club and so we took a simple name for it. We are not going to reform anybody or ourselves for that matter. Neither are we going to bring the population of St. Louis up to the million mark."

"Our intention is to get about a hundred members, and then rent a few rooms in some downtown building, where we can have a reading, recreation and pool room and buffet. In this way we can study literature and pool at the same time."

"Of course we will not tolerate any strenuous conduct in the club rooms and consequently the members will be compelled to live a simple life while there, and maybe it will influence them when they are outside."

"Did you get the idea from 'The Simple Life'?" he was asked.

"Well not exactly," he answered. "You see, I live in this hotel and of course there is a great deal of noise at night. The railroad tunnel is right underneath us and every time a train passes through I wake up. The other morning when I was awakened from a particularly sweet dream, I began thinking how delightful it would be if there was some place where everybody was quiet and simple, and gradually I got the idea of the Simple Life Club."

455,000 Infants Die From Food Poisons.

CHICAGO, April 1.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the National Association of State Dairy and Food Departments, to be held here today reports will be submitted showing that 455,000 infants died in the United States last year from the effects of food poisons. Food Commissioners from different States, Health Officers and officers of the National Association have arrived to attend the meeting.

The claim of the enormous fatality among infants last year resulting from impure food is made by J. N. Hurty, secretary of the Indiana State Board of Health. Mr. Hurty produces figures to show that 65 per cent of the total deaths of infants in America last year was due to poisons administered in impure foods and the deadly concoctions placed on the market by fraudulent food manufacturers.

Renewed efforts toward prohibiting the sale of food products containing poisonous adulterants are to be made by the association.

BISHOP DELIVERS HOMILY ON BRINGING UP OF BABIES

LONDON, April 1.—The Duchess of Portland has given a "meeting for women only" at her town home, the Bishop of London being the only man at the Duchess' meeting.

His audience was very fashionable, for the Duchess had limited her cards of invitation to the most fashionable and prettiest girls and young matrons in Mayfair.

The Bishop of London denounced the evils of bridge gambling, as is his custom when he meets a group of society women. Then he delivered a homily on the bringing up of children. As the Bishop is a bachelor and most of his audience were young and unmarried women, the lecture at the Duchess' was now called in society, "The indiscretion of the Bishop."

Girl's Heart Displaced By Flash of Lightning.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., April 1.—Members of the local medical fraternity are deeply puzzled over the case of Miss Mabel Rigney, a well known young lady of this city, who died last night from an affection of the heart. It is stated that while working as an operator in a local telephone exchange, the young lady was so severely frightened by a flash of lightning which coursed along the wires that her heart was displaced. Gradually she was taken with pains and for the last two weeks had been in intense agony, her heart beats constantly growing more rapid until just before death 182 pulsations per minute were registered.

One meets the circular skirt here and there and is likely to meet it still often as the weeks go by.

Now she wears her coat open to show a long, bright scarf of crepe de chine knotted on her bosom.

Changeable taffetas are reminiscent of days ago, many suggesting the old "ashes of roses."

Chenille boas are fashionable. Some made of tinsel tulle and flower petals are smart for evening wear.

HOW TO GET RID OF THAT DOUBLE CHIN

(From the New York Press.)

"Aim with the two big toes for the foot of the bed as you lie on your abdomen, and stretch and pull until you reach it. You'll have cramps every night, but you must keep right on—only wait until one cramp leaves before you stretch your big toes and bring on another." Instructed Miss Elizabeth A. C. White, president of the Dressmakers' Protective Association, at the meeting in Masonic Temple.

"I found that by stretching my big toes I reduced my double chin and the lumps of fat at my shoulders and the flesh of my diaphragm, too," she continued. "And this exercise will work the same way with each of you. Every woman, unless she is deformed has a beautiful figure. I can see the beauty even in this fat model of mine," she said, pointing to the model, weighing 300 pounds, who had entered in a white petticoat three inches above her knees.

"Now, I don't know whether that woman is coming or going when I look at her lumps of fat—but she has a beautiful figure and she'll look smart, too, when I fit her with the new 1905 high bust straight front model."

Turning her flushed and fleshy model around, she continued: "There is hope for every woman in the world. It's all in eating, in exercise and in wearing corsets. Don't look at other women and say what a handsome figure she has and then permit your own figure to drop into ugly positions that bring on flesh—you needn't trouble about any other human—just paddle your own canoe. In bygone days all women used to have regular pouches, because they did not exercise properly or wear straight corsets—but you don't see that any more. If you follow my instructions you can reduce your waist five or six inches in six weeks and make your body as round and soft as a baby's."

Miss White went on to explain, though rather vaguely, how the fat from the diaphragm was worked up to the shoulders, then down from the shoulders to the back and on to the hips—and yet the hips were smaller. Her audience looked somewhat puzzled at this extraordinary statement.

Before closing her lecture, the president said: "If mothers only taught their children that their bones were their corsets then they wouldn't have to take this instruction now, nor would they need to wear any corsets."

WOMEN DEMAND ADMISSION.

NEW YORK, April 1.—More than 200 women art students have, says a Times dispatch from Berlin, petitioned the Prussian Minister of Education to overrule Director von Werner, who recently refused to admit them to the Academy of Art. The women demand admission on terms similar to those now accorded them at the universities. The decision of the Minister is awaited with considerable interest, as it will establish a precedent in other state art academies in Germany that still exclude women.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Beef is the most nutritious of all animal foods, and can be eaten longer continually than any other kind of meat.

A paraffin tin should always be kept tightly corked. Unless this is done the oil will not yield such a good light as it ought to do.

When color has been removed from silk by acid it may be restored by touching the spots with a little sal volatile or hartshorn.

To cleanse bronzes rub in sweet oil and then polish with soft cloths. Not a particle of oil must be left. Finish by giving a final rub with a chamois leather.

A cement made by adding a teaspoonful of glycerine to a gill of glue is a great convenience in the kitchen, and is especially good for fastening leather, paper or wood to metal.

Toilet combs should seldom be washed, for it makes them brittle, but they are all the better for being frequently cleaned with borax powder. This should be rubbed on dry and the comb should be well polished with tissue paper.

When a whitewashed ceiling has become blackened apply a layer of starch and water to it with a piece of soft flannel. Allow the starch to dry on and then brush off lightly, using a brush. The blackness will disappear, leaving no mark whatever.

A mixture of equal quantities of yolk of egg and glycerine is most useful for removing stains from white flannel and other white woolen fabrics. Spread the compound on the stain, leave it to soak in for half an hour, then wash the garment as usual.

There should be no haste on the part of the maid in serving and she should not remove the dishes of a course until all are through. If necessary the hostess may quietly signal when the dishes are to be removed. The maid should see that water glasses are replenished, but should never fill a glass or cup full. By following these simple directions your maid will soon master the art of serving correctly.

To cleanse water bottles cut a potato into small dice and cover it with vinegar. Put some of this mixture into each bottle, and shake till clean. Then rinse in clear water and drain dry. The potato is quite as efficacious as the shot which is sometimes used by servants, and is perfectly safe, whereas when shot is used there is always a certain amount of danger of lead poisoning from particles of lead left.

A kitchen never looks so tidy as when its shelves are covered with oil cloth topped by white earthenware jars for holding rice, raisins and all the small staple goods needed in cooking, and which are so often strewn around in messy looking bags. Both the large sized jars and smaller ones for spices are attractive in simple patterned delft ware, on which the name of the contents is printed in blue.

To freshen black kid gloves when the outer surface has rubbed off mix a few drops of sweet oil with the same quantity of black ink and apply to the rubbed spots.

How to Tie a Parcel

Tying a parcel correctly is a bit of knowledge worth having. It prevents a woman from going into the street carrying a bundle that looks as though the next minute would see its contents lying in the street.

There must, of course, be suitable wrapping paper to do this properly, and it is well to buy a few sheets, and to have a ball of cord in the house, but a very economical method is to save wrapping paper that comes into the house about purchases, and folding it smoothly, keep it in a flat bag for the purpose.

Making a parcel without string seems to the uninitiated the most difficult, but is in fact simple. For small bundles this is the best method; large ones need the support of cord.

To wrap without string put the material to be covered so that it is on the paper cornerwise. Then lay over one corner the long way and turn up one end. Continue the rolling the long way, first turning the other "side" corner in so deeply that the point will run across the parcel to the other end. The parcel is then completely rolled, the other end turned in and pinched, which secures the paper.

A box is simple to wrap, for the square corners make a foundation. The paper is folded over the box, and then first one corner and then the other of one end are laid back in sharp points. The operation is repeated with the other end, and then both are turned up over the box, which is then securely tied.

Wrapping a soft, large bundle is the most difficult, for it must be given "body" if it is to hold together, and it is here the novice fails. Yet it consists merely in folding the garment or other thing to be wrapped in some symmetrical shape, long or square, and in using stiff paper if the parcel is large. The paper will give firmness.

To fasten small parcels elastic bands are more convenient than string, and cost so little that they cannot be called an extravagance.

The first illustration shows how to place a soft veil or other piece of material in the paper prior to wrapping. Illustration No. 2 shows how the side corner should be rolled under and the first end earned. Figure No. 3 shows the last turn of the finished package. Figures Nos. 5 and 6 illustrate the proper method to wrap and tie a box parcel.

LITTLE HINTS.

Fancy neckties of rock crystal, amber, cornelian, etc., are worn on high dresses.

The new silks don't dare to whisper; they are as soft and silent as the gentlest chiffon.

Figured, flowered and light changeable silks are all to be much worn for afternoon gowns.

The faintest things in neckwear are the French collars with cravats of white and crimson kid.

Princess gowns, so impossible to many figures, are now made available by a bloused effect.

Linen dress patterns of dark blue have flounces to match, embroidered in the same color or white.

Black hats, it seems, are not to be so fashionable as the various white and light-colored species.

OF INTEREST TO ALL WOMEN.

London is said to have five women builders, seven women house painters and two women architects.

There is a young person who intends having but one all-white dress this summer, but for this she is making five girdles, with stocks to match. One is rose, the others Nile green, blue, yellow and white. Each girde is a little different from the others and the stocks match the girdles as nearly as possible. A black picture hat is intended to do duty on all occasions when this frock, with its varying garniture, will be worn out of doors. A supply of wired and twisted bows for the hair, made to match these ribbon sets, also will be used as occasion demands.

Queen Victoria was very fond of children and one day she invited three little girls to pay her a visit. The mother of one of the children went, too, to take charge of the party. During the visit the queen asked one of the little girls where she lived. "Near Whiteley's," answered the child, and the mother was not exactly pleased, because she would have like the queen to think they lived somewhere else. After saying "near Whiteley's," the child looked up shyly at the queen and asked "Where do you live?" "Oh, I live near Goring's," said the queen, with her charmingly kind smile, and the little girl had no idea that the queen's house "near Goring's" was known to all the world as Buckingham palace or that it was a bit grander and bigger than her little home near the shop she mentioned.

Attar, or otto, of roses, the world-famed perfume, is chiefly made in Kasanlik, Bulgaria, the center of the rose-growing country, where white roses form the hedges of fields. Red roses only are used in making otto of roses, and the perfume is extracted from the petals, stalks and leaves. The discovery of the fragrant attar took place 3000 years ago. The Persian princess Nour Dihan was wandering through her palace when she noticed an ugly yellowish oil floating on the surface of the rosewater basins. She at once ordered its removal, but it was found that when the oil was taken away the lovely perfume had disappeared. The virtue of the essential oil was found out in this strange way and the attar of roses in Persia is still called Attar Dihan. The bottles peculiar to attar of roses are very quaint, being long and very narrow and practically "neckless." The glass is decorated with gold, and the attar is contained in a tiny cylinder of glass inside the bottle.

Queen Wilhelmina's marriage, in spite of all the gossip, seems to have turned out a success, and one evidence of the fact is that her German husband has weaned her from her former animosity to his country. A most patriotic Dutchwoman, Queen Wilhelmina seemed to think it incumbent on her to share the prejudices of her people. For instance, although her knowledge of German was perfect, she refused to speak it, and when the German Emperor once visited her, she insisted on speaking French with him. Her obstinacy on the point was the more marked, because German being her mother's native language, it was as easy to her to speak it as to speak Dutch. Now things are quite changed at the Dutch court, for German is the language spoken in the home circle of the queen, who reserves her native Dutch for her utterance on public occasions.

With the memory of Gen. Booth's successful motor car tour last autumn fresh in her mind, the countess of Warwick, friend of the English labor party, is touring England now in her own speedy car, preaching the cause of labor candidates. Lady Warwick is now a "proud and convinced member" of the Social Democratic Federation, but the political distinctions of the labor rank make no difference to her plans. She wished to strengthen the labor cause generally. "A vote for every man and woman over the age of 21," is the cry with which the socialist countess, in her red motor car, is giving to the country. The countess, indeed, intends to make her tour to a considerable extent a crusade on behalf of the children and the voiceless woman worker. Everything, in the opinion of England's first socialist peeress, depends upon the children. We cannot hope for ourselves, she says, but in the little children—in the generation that will come—lies the hope of the future.

THE GIRL HE WANTS.

Where is the ideal girl who is willing to link her fortunes with the of Henry W. Smith, best known as Hank the Handy Man? Here's one his letters:

"Mr. Editor—I saw an article about a Miss Von Armine, who is suffering hardships while waiting for a chance to get on the stage. Now, I am an actor and showman upon a small scale, and I want a wife who will take an interest in the business, and if you will kindly bring this to her notice perhaps we can strike a bargain. Respectfully yours,

"HENRY W. SMITH, Showman."
"P. S.—I'm a German Catholic, forty-eight years of age. H. W. S." He has composed a poem, describing exactly the sort of girl he wants.

Oh, do you know of such a girl who'll be good and true?
Who knows how to work and paddle her own canoe?
Who'll get up in the morning and get a bite to eat?
Who isn't fond of snoring and who hasn't ice cold feet?
If you know of such a gal, she's the one I'd like to see.
But I don't care a rap for any rattle-trap who doesn't care a rap for me.

Oh, she must be kind, and never, never flirt.
And when she does the cooking she must wash away the dirt.
She must be kind and gentle, and never, never scold,
And always be the same to me when we are growing old.
If you know of such a gal, she's the one I'd like to see,
But I don't care a rap for any jumping jack who doesn't care a rap for me.

Oh, she must play an instrument and know how to sing,
And her voice must be good and hearty, so's to make the welkin ring.
She must dress neat and tidy and do the best she can.
To be a model woman; then I'll be a model man.
If you know of such a gal, she's the one I'd like to see,
But I don't care a bean for any talkin' machine who doesn't care a bean for me.

Betty Martin Advises Girls About to be Married Tells How to Retain One's Husband

My Dear Betty Martin: Will you please tell me whether all married men have to be managed? I would like very much to know.

Also, will you kindly give me a few "pointers" on the subject?

My wedding is to take place shortly, and I want to begin life the right way.

Hoping to hear from you in next Saturday's TRIBUNE, I remain, yours very truly,

My Dear Griselda: To the first part of your query, I reply "yes," most emphatically. All married men have to be managed. The process of management may be likened to a baited fish. If you have ever watched a follower of Isaac Walton landing a prize, the whole theory of catching and keeping will be rendered clear to you. The fish pulls and jerks, first this way, then that, but, in spite of his efforts to escape once more into free waters, the line which holds him pulls softly, but steadily, upward until Mr. Fish is finally landed high and dry, willy, nilly.

IT'S TO KEEP HIM.

It is not nearly so difficult to capture a husband as it is to keep him after catching. A glance of the eye, a turn of the ankle, a dimpled arm, white, regular teeth, a pleasing smile, rosy cheeks, or even an interesting hauteur of manner often unconsciously may attract, through no particular effort on the owner's part.

Men pursue, women elude. At least, they elude for a season, after which comes a graceful capitulation. Then comes the real struggle.

Your namesake, "The Patient Griselda," whose experiences have been so touchingly recounted in the series of tales not men-tionable in polite society, has for many years been the model after which married men, perhaps unconsciously, fondly hoped to pattern their wives.

Generally speaking, the idea of which Griselda was the living embodiment, obtains largely even now, if one is to judge from the numerous bits of advice so freely given married women, all of which may be summed up in the one word, "Smile."

ALWAYS SMILE.

No matter what folly your husband commits—smile. Smile always. A harsh word stirs up anger, but a smile turneth away wrath.

Suppose, your dinner hour is six o'clock. At that hour everything is cooked and ready to serve. At five minutes of seven your husband enters, jauntily smoking the remnant of a cigar. You know to a certainty that his office closed promptly at five, but never, under any circumstance, inquire as to what kept him. Should you, by any mischance, cherish a spark of resentment toward him because of the wasted hour and dried up cookery, say naught, but—smile.

If he sees fit to stay away from home occasionally, say, from midnight to four o'clock in the morning, do not bother him with silly inquiries. He may, if his head is not too swollen, blandly inform you that he has been sitting up with a sick friend, or he may even, in a burst of generosity of heart, confess that he has been playing poker at the club. Take for granted the truth of either statement. Do not question the odor of the perfume with which he is redolent, but—smile.

I might go on indefinitely, Griselda, telling you just when and where to smile, but after all, the whole process, according to this cult of management, may be summed up conclusively in the statement to smile always.

LITTLE MORE SPICE.

Don't take this advice as emanating personally from me, my dear, for my private opinion is that a little more spice would be preferable to such everlasting sameness. The retort which the famous Southern beauty made to Thackeray may serve to illustrate what I mean. You doubtless remember that the author expressed a desire to meet this celebrated society leader, and, after the introduction, in reply to a sally from her, Thackeray said, with brutal frankness, "Yes, madame, I have heard that you are the gayest woman in the South, and for that reason I wanted to meet you."

"Oh, Mr. Thackeray," replied the belle, who was a wit as well as a beauty, "you really mustn't believe all that you hear. I have always heard that you were a gentleman."

Thackeray's reply to this adroitly administered rebuff isn't on record.

MARRIAGE?—PARTNERSHIP.

Marriage at the present day, my dear Griselda, is nothing more nor less than a partnership. The best interests of each should always be consulted. No secrets of the firm should ever be given away for the public to roll under its tongue, and frequent consultations should be held regarding the conduct of affairs. The wiser head should lead, regardless of whether it belongs to the breeches-wearing partner of the firm or not. In this latter event, much diplomacy must be exercised. The whole secret of success lies in the fact that the man mustn't realize that he is being managed. To do this successfully requires much skillful finessing.

Be extremely wary, Griselda, for the path matrimonial is about equally strewn with thorns and roses.

Evangelists Did Not Lose Money Says General Committee.

Deny That Religious Workers Left This City "Completely Discouraged."

Editor TRIBUNE:—Through an inadvertency we presume, an article very unjust to the good people of Oakland and to the evangelists recently visiting us, was copied from the San Francisco Wasp into the TRIBUNE. In the interest of "fair play," a game very popular in America, will you please publish the following:

1. The evangelists did not go away from Oakland "completely discouraged."
2. The people of Oakland "did" contribute money enough to take those who had saved their souls out of town." All contributions were received and counted by representative business men who know the amount to a dollar. These take pleasure in saying that Oakland treated the evangelists generously.

3. The evangelists did not lose "over one thousand dollars on the campaign in Oakland," nor did they lose any sum whatsoever.

4. If other places are not as Oakland is may be as one of the evangelists testified, because "With one exception no other city has responded so generously in contributions for the time of service."

5. "Why in the name of common sense, does not Oakland pay those who brought the refreshing waters?" The reply to the question is very simple and easy. Oakland has paid those who brought the refreshing waters to their entire satisfaction. In a higher sense neither Oakland nor any other city can pay, in gold and silver, for a spiritual uplift such as is brought by the presence of men like Dr. Chapman and his co-laborers, an uplift that purifies the life and strengthens the character of its citizens. Yours respectfully,

S. P. MEADS,

Secretary of the General Committee.

WAGES RAISED BY STEEL TRUST

NEW YORK, April 1.—Official notices have been sent out by the various companies of the United States Steel Corporation informing thousands of workmen of an increase in wages, beginning today. It is estimated that the increase will amount in round figures to $8,000,000. No details have been made public here, but it is said those who will receive the increased pay will be the laborers, skilled mill hands and the class of mechanics now receiving moderate wages. Agreements with tin plate, sheet steel and other workers which expire on June 30 next will not be changed at present. It is expected that higher wage scales will go into effect in these departments after the present agreements have expired.

OIL RESERVOIRS TO BE BUILT

PACIFIC COAST COMPANY BEGINS THE ERECTION OF TEN MONSTER TANKS.

POINT RICHMOND, April 1.—The Pacific Coast Oil Company will build ten new 25,000 barrel tanks on its high tract of land near San Pablo station, and work of construction will begin the first of the coming week. Contractor Page who has the work of grading, has leveled off a portion of the ground and a hundred boiler-makers will go to work Monday putting up the tanks. The Pacific Coast Oil Company is hiring the men by the day to do the work. It is understood a number of new tanks are to be built here this spring, also, and that Contractor Erickson will begin grading off the site at once.

Cerebro Spinal Meningitis Has Become an Epidemic

NEW YORK, April 1.—Cerebro spinal meningitis has almost attained the dimensions of an epidemic, cables the Berlin correspondent of the American.

In many districts of Germany the mortality is so large that the government's aid in combating the disease has been called for.

The malady chiefly attacks the young, and there have been few cases where the victims have been over thirty. Leading physicians declare that the disease is contagious.

NEW YORK, April 1.—A commission appointed by the Health Department to study cerebro spinal meningitis which is causing many deaths in and about New York, has decided, according to Health Commissioner Darlington, on a diagnosis of the mysterious disease. "This method," said the Commissioner, "is for physicians to take a lumbar culture and examine under the microscope the microbe secured from the puncture at the base of the spine. If the microbe thus examined is found to have thin protuberances resembling horns, then the disease is unmistakably meningitis."

CHICAGO, April 1.—A preventive of cerebro spinal meningitis "spotted fever," the dread plague which is ravaging New York and Eastern cities, and from which at least one death, that of an eight-year-old girl, occurred in Chicago yesterday, has been suggested by Dr. W. G. Glass of the City Health Department. An atomizer, a little carbolic acid and water are the safeguards.

"The disease is contracted through the throat," said Dr. Glass. "While the most reliable preventive consists in staying away from infected places, and in perfect cleanliness, the disinfection of the air passages should help to ward off the disease."

"Use an atomizer and spray the nasal passages and throat with water containing 1 per cent of carbolic acid. The disease is not as contagious as scarlet fever. It begins with a severe headache and vomiting. I do not believe that the disease will become dangerous in Chicago."

Jabez White is tall and wiry. He has a hatchet face, with prominent nose, rounded forehead and high cheekbones, and a chin and mouth exactly like Britt's and Corbett's, even to the retiring lower lip. He is thin-bodied and square-shouldered. His back is straight, unlike Britt's, which is rounded by the bunches of "hitting muscles" over his shoulder blades. His legs are light, wiry and muscular. Taken all together, he has the appearance of a good twenty-round fighter.

Some High Scores

The scores made last night at the Broadway Bowling Alleys are as follows: Bird and Beck, 323, 324, 311, Berquest and Bird, 318.

The following individual high scores were made yesterday afternoon: Long, 242, Spegal, 237, Hunt, 248, Strode, 218, Beckwith, 251, 214.

The boys of the Broadway Bowling Alleys announce their regrets over the retirement from bowling of Billy Reeves, who has been in bowling here the last eighteen years at various times the owner of different alleys. When he retired the other day he had charge of the Broadway alleys. He is well liked by all the boys, having a host of friends. He has played in San Francisco and in the East against some of America's crack bowlers, his scores ranking from the 200 mark up to 278.

Out in Berkeley last night the Piedmonts defeated the Buffaloes by the following score: Piedmonts—Donough, 144, Ellis, 143, 176, 122, Davis, 112, 154, 184, Menall, 120, 177, 132, total, 724. Buffaloes—Rodger, 140, 157, 123, Solansky, 144, 172, 143, Kohle, 181, 141, 128, Robison, 140, 131, 158, Norris, 99, 68, 140, total, 704.

BOXING BOUTS OF AMATEURS.

West Oakland Club Arranges Good Card For Its Shows on April 18.

The matchmaker for the West Oakland Athletic Club has been busy the past week arranging the card for the club's next monthly show, scheduled for April 18.

The program shows six four-round bouts between some of the best amateurs about the bay, and so to doubt a good evening of sport will be provided for the fight fans.

FROM NEW YORK.

The card leads off with Jockey English of the race track and W. Brown of New York, the weight being 105 pounds. Then will come Kid Cheever of the Sunnyside Club of San Francisco and Young Gauley.

The boys will weigh in at 110 pounds. Gauley is the best little fellow West Oakland has and the shop boys will bet their heads off on him to win.

FRISCO VERSUS OAKLAND.

The next hook-up will be better Willie Gunther of San Francisco and A. Facosch of Oakland, the weight being fixed at 125 pounds.

North Oakland will send Joe Kelly against H. Friel of San Francisco, each to weigh in at 130 pounds.

From Berkeley, there will come 16 Rogers to face John DePonta of West Oakland. One hundred and twenty-five pounds is the required weight.

THE LAST ONE.

The program will wind up with a bait for Ben Kid Joseph of the West Oakland Club and Joe Enos of Oakland, the weight being placed at 120 pounds. As usual Dan Oakley will referee all contests, while George Simpson will deliver a short address before each contest. Seats will be placed on sale in a day or two.

FRESNO'S TEAM IS LINED UP.

M'Kune, Late of Oakland, Will Play Second Base--Hitt Will Pitch.

Hitt pitcher.
C. Bare, catcher.
Cartwright, first base.
McKune, second base.
Downing (captain), third base.
J. Bare, shortstop.
Hayes, left field.
Gilbert, center field.
Shea, right field.

And there you have the make-up of the baseball team that will represent Fresno in the State Baseball League. Oakland's bunch hasn't been gathered together as yet, but when the odds do get in the pasture they will be something fine to look upon. It is promised, and ought to cop the 1905 pennant.

SHOULD HIT SOME.

There are at least five members of Fresno's team who should be able to hit out the leather for the season near the .500 mark. The others for that matter, are not so slow with the willow themselves. If the team can be kept intact for the whole season just as it stands in the above list, its chances are pretty good.

It was not definitely known that McKune would play last evening when Downing was received from him stating he would play with Fresno. Fans remember McKune as a member of "Dad" Brittan's team three years ago. He went to Fresno however just before March threw up the sponge and quit the league and did not get a chance to play there a great deal though he remained there for several months working for the Raisin Growers' Association.

WITH OAKLAND.

Since then McKune has played in fast company. Last year he held the keystone sack for Oakland for several months and was Oakland's utility infielder up to within a few weeks of the close of the season.

Besides being a nifty second baseman he can catch a good game and he is just the sort of a man needed on the club. He has had a lot of big league expert advice and his coaching will be of inestimable value.

UMPIRES' ORDERS.

President Frank Herman of the State League has issued an address to the league umpires, telling them how they will be expected to conduct the games under their charge during the coming season. Above all things else he said no rowdiness is to be permitted. Any player who misbehaves is to be reprimanded or in flagrant cases be put out of the game.

RELIEF TO FANS.

In the past games in Fresno have been marred by exhibitions of rowdiness, and it will be a source of pleasure to the fans there to know that such conduct will not be permitted in the league.

Make all decisions promptly as you see them," says the president. Never attempt to even up after having made a mistake. Keep the players on the move all the time particularly in changing innings and have the batsmen take their places promptly and be ready to take their turn at bat.

BICYCLE RACE IS PROPOSED.

Eden Wheelmen to Issue Open Challenge For Fifty Mile Cup Contest.

HAYWARDS April 1.—A challenge is to be sent by the Eden Wheelmen to the California Cycling Association to ride a relay race for a cup.

If the invitation is accepted the contest will be pulled off in the near future, probably on the San Leandro triangle.

It is expected that the distance will be fifty miles six times around the track. Each rider will carry the packet for one lap.

OFFER IS OPEN.

If the challenged club should refuse to compete the other aggregations around the bay will be given a chance to try for the silver goblet.

WILL TRY OUT.

As yet the Eden Wheelmen's first team has not been selected. A try out is to be held soon. Among those who will try for a place are the following riders: Allen Everett, J. Silva, W. Joseph, John Angus, Nelson, Berree, Joe and Manuel Mendosa, Peter and Magnus Borree.

At the annual election of officers this week those chosen were as follows: President, Nelson Borree; treasurer, Magnus Borree; secretary, George Asmusen; captain, Charles Upham; lieutenant, Allen Everett.

In the first round Judge was scored twice, and in the sixth took the count five times, the bell saying him from a knockout. He was so badly beaten however, that he was unable to continue when the gong sounded for the seventh. The earlier rounds of the fight were about even.

NEW YORK, April 1.—Tom O'Rourke has received a cablegram from the representatives of Owen Moran, the English bantam, to the effect that the latter is coming to this country. Moran is a native of Birmingham, and has the credit of having defeated Jim Bassey, the present English bantam champion. He will sail on the Majestic, which leaves England next Wednesday, and ought to be here within a fortnight. Moran, upon his arrival, will join Jabez White at San Francisco.

WORKING HARD TO SAVE SOULS

The interdenominational Sunday afternoon 3 o'clock "Good Cheer" meetings, held in the Salvation Army citadel by the army and the pastors of the city, are causing much interest in church circles by reason of the unity of effort and the spirit shown by those attending. Leading pastors speak each Sunday, assisted by members of the various congregations and young people's societies. Special singing by church and army singers and soloists, short addresses, testimonies and music by the army band, make the meetings interesting for saint and sinner alike. Souls are being saved, and many have been converted to the Master's service. The Rev. Philo Fuller, Phelps speaks Sunday, April 2, and will be followed by the Rev. Dr. Dille April 9.

MANY PRISONERS.

BERLIN, April 1.—Dr. Steubel, director of the Colonial Office, relating to a question in the Reichstag, said that 4,900 men, women and children were so far prisoners at the concentration camps in German Southwest Africa. The Government had added, and in addition, as reported, of disarming the Ovambo who had attacked and destroyed Portuguese columns.

STANFORD STILL UNWILLING

BERKELEY, April 1.—Graduate Manager Decoto of the University of California and Manager Barrett of Stanford have partially effected a compromise which, if agreed to by the boating clubs of the two universities, will end the present question regarding the selection of a course on which to hold the annual intercollegiate race. Should the agreement go into effect, it will provide for the alternate selection of the waters in which the annual boating races shall be contested.

As Stanford is against racing on the Oakland estuary and California does not favor the Stockton course, some arrangement must be made whereby, as the date on which the regatta should occur is not far distant, in event of the compromise being decided upon favorably, it is probable Stanford will ask for first choice and select Stockton as the scene of the races.

YOUNG CORBETT FIGHTS A DRAW

BALTIMORE, April 1.—Young Corbett and Kid Sullivan fought ten rounds here last night to a draw. The fight was a fast one and for a time it looked as though Corbett would receive the decision on a foul.

In the second round, when the fighters were mixing it, Sullivan landed a hard right on Corbett below the belt. The blow winded Corbett and he was practically out. There were great cries of "foul" from the spectators. But not thinking the boys were intentional, the referee refused to give Corbett the fight and told him to take five minutes in which to recuperate.

The boys fought fast and fierce from the first to the last round, each trying to score a knockout at every opportunity.

Tennis Tourney Championship

NEW YORK, April 1.—Champion lawn tennis teams representing New York and Chicago may meet in a dual set of matches before the coming season shall have closed. The subject is now under discussion by the executive committee of the Metropolitan Lawn Tennis League. It is planned to have the winners of the metropolitan series meet the winners of the Chicago Lawn Tennis League, probably in this city some time in September.

Excelsior Team is Reorganized

The Excelsior baseball team of Oakland has reorganized for the season of 1905 and will journey over to San Francisco tomorrow to play its first game, the contest being with the Bellows at Golden Gate Park.

Jimmy Willard will do the catching for the Excelsior against this year, while George Cox will once more throw the twisters. Joe McCarthy will cover station one, and Phil Spencer will play the demon from up the bay where will play second. A Silver will guard the third stopping place. Norman Rose will occupy the position between second and third. In the center garden will be Ed Horgan, in left field is Hughie Philbrick, while over in right field is Ed Hood. Eugene Lemo is substitute.

Spence will manage the team, while Willard will act as captain.

YOUNG PHOENIX WIN EASILY

Yesterday the Young Phoenix of St. Mary's journeyed to Belmont, where they handily defeated the military lads 9 to 6. The game was fought hard, and the college lads won out by a terrific hitting rally in the eighth inning.

Tomorrow a hot game is anticipated, with the strong team representing Baker & Hamilton. Play will be called at 3 o'clock on St. Mary's campus.

NOTES FROM RELIANCE CLUB

The smoker which was to have been held at the Reliance Club two weeks ago was postponed and will be held on the night of April 6 instead.

During the coming week there will be music by the orchestra. At the same time a few four-round boxing bouts will take place, men to be picked out of Ed Smith's young colts.

There will also be wrestling and other athletic stunts on the bars and mat.

The men who have signed up and are trying out for the indoor baseball team are: Treado, Rosenchen, Wyron, Anne, Brook, Long, Clandis, Perry, Pfeiffer, Walton, Davis, Gern, Joseph, Franks, Karl Johnson. More men are steadily coming out for practice and sign up, so Reliance Club will no doubt have a good indoor baseball team to represent it.

The basket ball team at the Reliance Club is practicing hard almost every night, and is in fine condition for the tournament which will open in a short time.

CHESS TOURNEY IS PLANNED

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, April 1.—President Fuller of the Stanford Chess Club has announced the members of the team that will meet the University of California on April 14 next in the annual intercollegiate contest. The seven men who have been chosen from fifteen candidates after a long tournament are as follows: H. W. Strong, F. P. Whitaker, E. W. Doane, G. E. Dole, M. M. Stearns, A. R. MacSwain and R. A. Fuller. Five of the successful candidates are old players on the varsity. Strong has won his matches with California for the past two years, and in the recent try-out tournament he won every game he played. Fuller has also played two years on the varsity.

STRONG PLAYERS.

Stearns won his match with California last year. Whitaker played on the 1903 varsity. Dole was alternate on the team last year. Doane and MacSwain are the new men. The latter made a reputation last fall by winning the tournament played then. Whitaker and MacSwain, being varsity track men, will play two California track men on April 12, so that there will be no interruption in their training. The other matches will be played on the evening of April 14 in the rooms of the Mechanics' Institute Chess and Checker Club in San Francisco. Wallace B. Nevill, the well-known San Francisco expert, will probably officiate.

OUT IN THE FIRST ROUND.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 1.—Mike Donovan of New York was knocked out in the first round last night by Kid Lemuel of Evansville.

FAVORS YOSEMITE CLUB.

The Police Committee of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors met Thursday and recommended that the Yosemite Club be granted a professional boxing permit for April.

A Creeping Death.

The Young Man's Shoe

The majority of men who buy Regals are young men, fellows who study style and who know a swag-gar shoe when they see it.

That's the main reason for their first purchase. But that first purchase is such a revelation of iron wear in Regal King Calf Uppers and Oak-Tanned Soles, and of perfect made-to-order comfort in Regal quarter sizes that, like Oliver Twist, they come back for more.

The buying of $14 made-to-order shoe quality for $3.50 is an experience so unique that a man's not going to forget where he bought it.

Percy Brendle Tells a Reporter of His Almost Miraculous Escape From Death.

Mr. Percy Brendle was visited by a reporter, to whom he made the following statement:

"In 1901 I came to San Francisco from Detroit, a very sick man. I was suffering, so the doctors told me, from a complication of diseases which involved my heart, stomach and kidneys. I treated with several local physicians after my arrival here, but got no relief. One day I saw in the papers a statement by somebody as to how Mme. Ismar had performed a wonderful cure of a case similar to my own. I lost no time in seeing Mme. Ismar; but I can tell you it was a forlorn hope, after all, that actuated me. She quickly told me what my ailment was, and set to work to cure me. She used no drugs nor gave me no prescription of any kind. But I was benefited by her treatment almost immediately, and after a couple of months I felt perfectly well, but she continued to treat me for some time longer. I regained my old-time buoyancy and vigor, the color came back to my cheeks, and the brightness returned to my eyes. I knew I was again a well man. No, I cannot tell you how Madame Ismar performed this miracle, for so it seems to me—but I know that she did it. It's simply extraordinary, and she's certainly the most remarkable being I ever met. I have also greatly profited by her advice in a business way. I consider her one of the greatest clairvoyants in the world."

If you intend to take any important step in life—whether of a business or sentimental nature—Ismar's advice will be invaluable to you. She is a seeress without a peer in the world. Her clairvoyant and telepathic powers are marvelous. She is able to give readings at a distance as successful as if they occurred in her office. She answers three questions for $1.00, and gives a full life reading for $5.00. Send money by Western Union or postoffice money order or by registered letter. ## AN APPRECIATION

By MOLLIE E. CONNERS

Another chapter is written in the city's history—the chapter that marks the passing of Mr. Isaac Requa. A sadness deep and profound reigns at Highlands, and sorrow dwells in many faithful hearts. For the week marks the passing of a man, sweet and tender and true, but beyond all that, brave and strong.

His was a great soul, living out life with a splendid simplicity—so strong that there was helpfulness for his fellow men, courage and hope for those about him who were in need of it.

Here was a man who was true to his early young aspirations and ideals, and the years only served to deepen the nobler characteristics of a nature essentially sincere and true. Old friends have many pictures of a life that was very full of interesting phases. They remember the young man full of promise who came in the strong, early days of the State—the golden days of the pioneers.

Strength was needed to meet the hard conditions, and it needed strength, and hope, and courage to succeed. It meant work, and in a hopeful way Mr. Requa worked, and earned his success in the mining regions of Nevada. These were rare old pioneer days over there in Nevada—and many a time in later years were rehearsed the stories of old Nevada days, and of the old friends who struggled side by side, building homes and fortunes amid primitive conditions.

And Mr. Requa always loved his home, with a deep and abiding affection—and one loves to think of the loyal, faithful companionship, so full of affection, of Mr. and Mrs. Requa all down the vista of years.

Perhaps this is the most beautiful phase of all the many pictures of a rare life. It can be said of Mr. Requa that he always had a happy home. No one could have loved his home more tenderly.

"It will be so lonely without father," said one of the children pathetically. "Father was always home—we could all go away on our trips, but when we came back father was always home."

One remembers the pride of the Requas in the simple home in Nevada—the happy little home wherein they prospered.

It was with regret they left it when fortune came to them and it was best to educate the children elsewhere.

Twenty-seven years ago the Requas came to Piedmont and together they planned every detail of beautiful "Highlands," the home which has stood for so much in the history of the city. Here the children grew up, and here Mr. Requa found many years of tranquil happiness. The servants grew old with the master of the household and they adored him. Rarely has there been such an affectionate father, so strong for his children, so true to them—seldom has there been a husband so proud of his wife—the lover husband all down the years. It is no wonder that deep sorrow has settled down upon Highlands.

It is rare to find tenderness with indomitable will, but the latter was one of Mr. Requa's characteristics. The wonderful drive the day before he passed away showed many phases of his strength of character.

The carriage paused at the end of the road that he might speak to the conductor, and he inquired for his old friends among the workmen. They were all his friends, and he went and came among them with much good comradeship.

"I am going to try to have all the old men put back on this road," he said.

Even in what proved to be his last hours was the friendly thought for others. All over the grounds of Highlands he was driven, Mrs. Requa by his side. Together they visited all the familiar places—grown dear to them in the twenty-seven years in which Highlands had been their home. Then they were driven home. Together they came home for the last time.

In a few hours the flags floating at half mast told the people that Mr. Requa had passed out.

There was a common sorrow to be shared.

Each friend will tell of some trait of character that has appealed to him—but most of all you will hear now of the generous deeds of helpfulness marking much of his day's work.

In much philanthropic effort in Oakland Mrs. Requa has had a leading part, and she was always sure of the able assistance, the hearty encouragement of Mr. Requa in any charitable enterprise in which she might be interested.

But the history of the many kind deeds will be written only in faithful hearts and in that higher record where are chronicled the kind deeds of men. For Mr. Requa could always be seen.

He was always at his desk. Here old friends found him, and found also a warm welcome as they talked of early days. And here also came those in trouble—and you will hear that when the bank could not help them there were kind words and more substantial help from Mr. Requa. Many a man has been placed on his feet and given new hope and courage by the timely help which came to him in his hour of need. All this will you hear, as our people pause in the busy day's work to do honor to the loved one, called away in the fullness of years.

It is a rare lesson to many a Californian—the lesson of this life, so unspoiled, so grandly simple—lived out consistently to the end. Success and fortune never gave him any false values, never set him apart from his fellow men. He was one of them, among them, to the very end.

A loving father has gone out of life, a devoted husband has been called away, and there are many who know that they have lost a true friend.

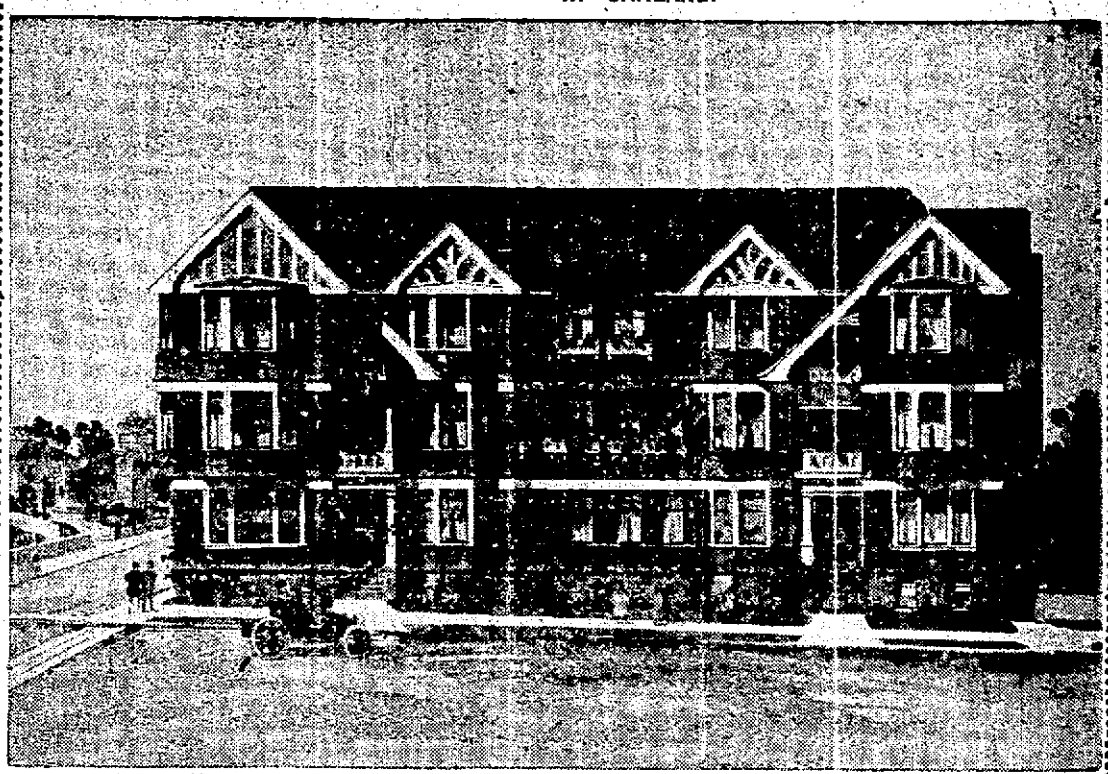

As I write, from Nevada, from all over the East are coming to Highlands telegrams of sympathy—to the home are going wonderful flowers, the last tributes of friends.

We seem to have grown nearer together as we stand aside, facing a loss that marks one of the deep tragedies of life. For it gives one a heartbreak to think of the household at Highlands, where it must live out life without the one who has been its center strength these many years, the one who has been the mainstay of the home. He was always strong and brave in trouble—always with words of comfort for others—words of patient good cheer.

It is not for us to see "beyond the stars," but sometimes a message lights the darkness:

"Sunset and evening star
And one clear call for me,
And let there be no moaning at the

A PIONEER WOMAN PASSES AWAY

DEATH OF MRS. ELIZABETH
DORNBACK IN SEVENTY-SIXTH YEAR.

The ranks of pioneer women in this vicinity were decreased yesterday by another departure over the divide of one who had done more than her share in the up-building of California and who leaves a long line of descendants and friends who will ever revere her memory.

The passing was that of Mrs. Elizabeth Dornback of San Leandro, who died after a career of 76 years and four months.

Mrs. Dornback came to California in 1849. She was one of an adventurous band of pioneers who braved the climatic rigors and the menace to life of the savage hordes of the western plains and accomplished the journey over land after months of more than ordinary privations and suffering. Thrice, while on the road, the party was surrounded by Indians, but succor came in each instance, as hope of escape had almost died in every breast.

The deceased, then a young woman, displayed remarkable heroism during those trying ordeals, a heroism of which her descendants are justly proud, more especially because with it were allied those qualities of heart and mind which adorn the wife and mother in the circle of the home.

The family, on arriving in California, settled in Dutch Flat in Placer county, where Mrs. Dornback is still known for deeds of gentleness and charity.

Mrs. Dornback was the mother of Mrs. C. L. Boek and Mrs. J. Warner of Oakland; Mrs. N. Simmy and Miss Mary Dornback of San Leandro; William Dornback of Belleville, Ill., and George Dornback of Los Angeles.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late residence of the deceased in San Leandro.

Jas. Phelan May Make Fight For Governor on Democratic Ticket

The KNAVE

Lively Election Will be Held at the Bohemian Club Across Bay

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—The men who have started out to reform the politics of San Francisco to depose Mayor Schmitz and all his appointees, and to send Abe Ruef to San Quentin, if that can be done by hook or by crook, are very hard at work just now, but are finding that the organization of a new party, or the re-organization of an old one, is a far more serious business than they had at first contemplated. They began by saying that they would take advantage of the anti-Ruef sentiment and so sweep the city with almost any candidates that they would name. That there is a great anti-Ruef sentiment in San Francisco is evident to men of the meanest understanding, but to take advantage of that sentiment and organize a party in all the assembly districts and in all the precincts is not a matter of sentimentality, but of hard and practical politics.

The reformers began with an idea that they could organize a non-partisan movement and unite all the so-called "decent elements" in a body that would wipe Mayor Schmitz and Ruef from off the political slate and off the political map. But just as they began to get together in quiet meetings, a politician more practical than the others rose and told them this:

"If you attempt to get up a non-partisan organization you will have at least three tickets in the field and quite possibly four. The Republicans will name a ticket, and quite possibly Ruef, having captured that organization, will make Schmitz the Republican nominee for Mayor. If he does not capture that organization some machine Republican will be named for the place. The Democrats who do not join in your non-partisan movement will name a ticket of their own. Then the labor men will nominate Schmitz, or indorse him in case he already has been nominated by the Republicans; and at the end of it all you will name your non-partisan candidate and with the vote split up in this fashion the man you least want to win is sure to carry away the prize."

This talk seemed so sensible that at last it was determined to concentrate the reform movement on an effort to capture the Republican party. The work that now is being done is toward that end. There is quite a stir in many of the districts. There has been some effort to take practical politicians into the reform camp. Phil Crimmins seems to be entirely willing to serve under the banner of reform. John Daly, "the milkman," is said to be already at work for "the great cause." Daly may not be much of a reformer, but he thoroughly hates Abe Ruef. Senator Dick Welch is counted on to stand with Daly in the capturing of some of the South-of-Market-street districts. Martin Kelly is said to be broke and more than willing to take service under the reformers if the fee is made large enough. There is a rumor that Governor Pardee proposes to lend his aid to the work of reform and to have the water front bestir itself in the effort to rid the city of Ruef.

But the great question is where will Herrin stand in all this mix-up? Some of his lieutenants seem bitterly opposed to Ruef. Others seem inclined to laugh at the efforts of the reformers. Fairfax Whelan has been quoted as saying that he felt it would be almost impossible to break the power of Schmitz and Ruef if the full force of the Republican machine was to be put behind them. But thus far Herrin, himself, seems to have given no sign. Evidently, like a wise general, he is waiting to see a full disposition of the troops on the battle field before he decides where and how to strike. Or perhaps he may be better likened to one of the self-seeking Princes of the middle ages, who watched carefully to ascertain how a campaign was going and then threw in his forces with the apparent victors.

However, Herrin or no Herrin, Pardee or no Pardee, the reformers are at work and are stirring up some activity in every district in the effort to capture the Republican convention at the August primaries. Again and again it is told that money is to be subscribed freely, and Ruef is sniffing up the wind; for he has said repeatedly on the streets that it was a movement of the Citizens' Alliance and the A. P. A. against Mayor Schmitz, a laboring man and a Catholic, and himself, a Jew. That the Citizens' Alliance is opposing Ruef and Schmitz is beyond all question, and that it will back the Merchants' Association with money is entirely probable. But bringing up the A. P. A. indicates that Ruef feels that his position is apt to be desperate, because the A. P. A. organization has long since gone "where the woodbine twineth and the whang-doodle mourneth for her first born." The effort to revive the ghost of that organization is a plea for sympathy.

In all of this what is to become of James D. Phelan? With the reformers capturing the Republican party they hardly could expect their followers to place in nomination Phelan, a Democrat. And if McNab retains control of the Democratic organization (and there seems a disposition to let him have that honor without contest), and he nominated Phelan for Mayor, there would be Phelan representing the reformer Democrats and Fairfax Whelan or Frank J. Symmes representing the reformer Republicans, and Schmitz representing the Labor Unionists and "the gang," and out of that mix-up Schmitz and Ruef are quite likely to come away victorious as of yore. But Phelan is active. He is making speeches before Improvement Clubs, and on festival occasions, and the rumor has gone abroad that he has purchased the Los Angeles Herald. He is known to have had some interest in the Fresno Democrat, and has long been on friendly terms with the San Francisco Bulletin. This may indicate that he contemplates a try for Governor instead of a contest for Mayor of San Francisco.

Speaking of Phelan reminds me that there is just now the liveliest kind of a contest in the Bohemian Club, of which Mr. Phelan is the active and honored president. It is a long day since there has been an opposition ticket in that splendid organization that contains so much of art and wit and laughter. In fact, there has been no opposition worth speaking of since Mr. Phelan was elected for his first term as president, some twelve or fourteen years ago. At that time the late Daniel O'Connell was put forward by the laughing, painting, singing, drinking Bohemians as their candidate for the presidency. They laughed and they caricatured and they sang and they danced; but Mr. Phelan sent out his carriages and his emissaries on election day, and Daniel O'Connell, poet, litterateur and viveur, was badly, woefully and dolorously beaten by the rising young millionaire.

The wilder-fellows in the club have protested many times since that their organization was losing its old Bohemian characters, but they never dared to put their feelings to the touch of the ballot on election day. Now, however, there is a change. The livelier and more entertaining Bohemians have asserted themselves, and they are out with an opposition ticket that is making life in the club and keeping corks in the air.

At the head of the regular ticket as the successor to President Phelan is Fred Hall, a lawyer of ability and a friend of Phelan. But against him has been named Willard T. Barton, one of the best known club men in the country, whose home, when he is in California, is over on your Piedmont Hills. Barton is, in his way, as much a type of the old Bohemianism as was Daniel O'Connell. He wrote "Razzle Dazzle" and the "Lay of the Lingerer Lung." He also wrote "Imogene Donahue," "The Knights of the Gold Plated Hod," and a dozen other songs that have rollicked their way around the world. He is as well known at the Lamb's and the Lotus Clubs in New York and down at the Larchmont Yacht Club as he is in Bohemia, and he long has been a great factor in the Bohemian jinks. So the betting is that Barton will defeat Hall, though Colonel A. G. Hawes, representative of the conservative element in the club, has enthusiastically declared in favor of Hall, and Charlie Field, the young writer and insurance man, who was one of the election committee that named the regular ticket, has remained true to the Hall cause.

The contest for vice-president opens out an even livelier interest. On the regular ticket is Dr. J. Wilson Shiels, and against him has been named the redoubtable Dick Hotaling. Shiels is one of the most talented and best loved members of the club. But so is Hotaling. Shiels is exceptionally clever in the jinks. But so is Hotaling. Shiels recites remarkably well. So does Hotaling. Shiels can assume many characters. So can Hotaling. Both write acceptable papers, and both are rich beyond the dreams of avarice. So the contest between the two has aroused the greatest interest.

For secretary, Al Grim, son of the venerable recorder of your county, has been named on both tickets. This is a fine tribute to his popularity as a Bohemian and his ability as a business man. Your Judge Harry Melvin is also on both tickets for the office of director, and so is certain of election. It would be very hard to defeat Judge Melvin if he were only named on either one of the tickets. John McNaught, editor of the Call, is on the regular ticket for director, and though he has been a member of the club a very short time, his great ability and pleasing personality have so endeared him to the members that it is believed he will defeat some one of the directors named on the opposition ticket. There seems to be something of a movement to vote for McNaught in place of Lew Hanchett, though Hanchett is a particularly close friend of Barton, and has had nothing urged against him as a candidate for the place. He is a member of the well-known Hanchett family. One of his sisters was the first wife of Colonel Jack Wright of Sacramento and another was the late Mrs. George Crocker. However, the contest between McNaught and Hanchett is being watched with almost as much interest as that between Hotaling and Shiels, or even that between Barton and Hall.

There is an active fight now on between the hotels and restaurants in the endeavor to set the tide of after-the-opera fashion flowing in the direction of one or another. During the last opera season the Palace had everything its own way. It defeated Zinkand's in one round and the Louvre never was in the contest. But since then Techau Tavern has enjoyed a wide popularity, the St. Francis Hotel has come up as a new factor in the fight for prestige, and now Tait's has become the liveliest competitor and seems to be a thoroughly dangerous antagonist.

In the struggle of the fashionable restaurants there now seems to be a case of the survival of the fittest. Tait's has caught the tide of fashionable fortune just at its flood. Where Zinkand's was crowded and Techau's overflowing, there now are vacant inter-spaces in both, while Tait's has the cream of the patronage. On top of this a great new restaurant is about to be opened on Eddy street by the man who has made the "Oyster Loaf" famous and he proposes to be an active competitor for the dinner and after-theater trade.

Thus far Tait has deserved his honors. There was a tendency at Zinkand's and at Techau's to be haughty and high-headed with people who attempted to crowd in upon their over-bounding popularity. But Tait seems to have set out to be deferentially agreeable to everybody who comes his way and to try to hold the trade that the newness of his enormous place has so abundantly attracted. He formerly was the steward of the Pacific Union Club, and it now can be said that a gourmet can eat and drink better at Tait's than anywhere else in San Francisco or California except the Family and the Pacific Union.

In Stage

after goes wherever it has been presented as the very best border drama that has ever been given to the stage. Dustin Farnum who appears in the title role will be remembered as the young lieutenant in "Arizona" when that wonderfully successful play was first presented on this coast. He is ideal in all of the requirements of the part and it is said that he satisfies in every respect the picture formed in the mind's eye of the "Virginian" after reading the book. Frank Campeau will be seen as Trampas and Helen Holmes as the school teacher. Seats will be placed on sale on Monday.

CALIFORNIA PLAY "RAMONA."

Probably the most widely read and popular story of California life in the Missions that has ever been written is "Ramona," by Helen Hunt Jackson. This story has been dramatized and is now being presented with almost phenomenal success throughout this state and is playing to crowded and enthusiastic houses everywhere. Miss Virginia Calhoun is the dramatist and is also playing the leading role in this new drama. She is an actress of recognized ability and has scored heavily in this splendid creation. "Ramona" has been booked to play at the Macdonough Theater on Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee, April 14th and 15th, and it is confidently expected to equal its success at other places here. Those familiar with the book are extremely anxious to see the play, for the book is full of excellent dramatic possibilities.

ATTRACTIONS COMING.

Koh and Dill the famous comedians with their excellent supporting company and complete scenic productions will appear at the Macdonough Theater in all their successes for five nights and two matinees, commencing Wednesday, April 26th.

"The Red Feather," with Grace Van Studdiford in the leading role of this, the most successful comic opera since Robin Hood, will be seen at the Macdonough Theater for two nights, May 1st and 2d.

Chauncey Olcott, the famous comedian and sweet singer is booked to appear at the Macdonough in his latest success on May 11th and 12th.

H. Southern and Julia Marlowe in their magnificent Shakespearean revivals including "Romeo and Juliet" will be the social event of the season at the Macdonough Theater on the 15th and 16th of May.

Margaret Anglin will play a season at the Macdonough directly after the termination of her season at the California Theater, presenting all of her successes including her newest play and greatest success, "Zira."

"THE OTHER GIRL."

Augustus Thomas has placed theater-goers many times in his debt for the enjoyment of a hearty evening's entertainment through his idyllic play, "Arizona," his study of American characters in "In Missouri," and his rollicking comedies, "On the Quiet," and "The Earl of Pawtucket." But his latest and what is said to be his greatest effort as a comedy writer, "The Other Girl," in which Louise Barrymore makes his stellar appearance, will be seen for the first time in this city at the Macdonough Theater, April 17 and 18. It is presented by Charles Frohman with the original New York cast. This splendid organization made the piece such a success that New York would not part with the play all last year, and it performed one of the most successful runs recorded by any company in New York. "The Other Girl" is a play of American life with novel American types of character peopling it. Every line is said to contain a laugh or a heart beat, the same as did Thomas' play, "The Earl of Pawtucket." New York called the play "the brightest comedy of the season" and Poston declared it to be "one long laugh." It is promised to be a cause for incessant interest and laughter and an unique character to the stage to be one of the best original dramatic conceptions seen in recent years.

THE NOVELTY.

The attendance this week at the Novelty Theater was large, as the program was an exceptionally good one. Every one appearing is an established reputation as vaudeville artists. The present bill could easily be given for a month with great success, but the custom of changing the talent every week will be maintained and on Monday there will be an entire change of program, as usual. Some of the new people to be seen in Oakland for the first time are Cole and Cole, aerial artists of note; Hawley and Voss, comedians; Miss Mae Fleming, vocalist, direct from New York City; Barlow's dog, cat and monkey circus; Kruse, wonderful Japanese juggler, comes direct from Japan and is recognized in that country as having few if any superiors in his difficult work. Walter Kerrick, the favorite illustrated singer will be heard for another week and will have something new to render. The motion pictures will be an entire new set and with the augmented orchestra of ten pieces, the entertainment for the coming week will be an unusually good one. The Novelty Arcade has added some new attractions, and the admission is free afternoon and evening. The electric band organ is kept going all the time the Arcade is open. There is at least one matinee each day and two evening performances. On Saturdays, Sundays and holidays extra shows are always given. The Novelty circuit is now affiliated with the Western Circuit, which has some of the best people in the vaudeville line under contract, embracing European people as well as American.

THE BELL.

Notwithstanding the inclement weather, business at the popular Bell was exceedingly good during the week. Camille & Fena, the opening number on the bill is good. They do some clever work that is entirely new locally. The Ellis Sisters and Brown, a trio, are good singers and dancers, and do their share in making the bill a hit. Willis and Collins, a sketch comedy team; Miss Jessie Dale, in pictured melodies; the Bostonian Quartette, composed of four male voices, show splendid training, and is one of the best acts that has yet appeared in any of the local houses. For next week, the management promises some splendid features. Among them is the racing team of Davis and Hall, who will introduce their world-renowned cycle race trendle, which will appear in America after long and successful engagements in Europe. Mr. Davis is recognized as the world's champion in bicycle riding. The rollers used on these machines are the ordinary rollers such as are used by racers at present. As they ride their distance is indicated by miniature riders on miniature race tracks. The rollers are ready to defend their reputation against any of the riders in Alameda county. The management offers $10 to any Oakland wheelman who can beat them at any performance next week. U. E. Smith, in a musical and ventriloquist act, comes a complete and ready sketch team; a new series of aniated pictures, and several other large features constitute a bill of rare excellence. This bill is considered by the management as a splendid one. The matinees are as popular as ever with ladies and children. The new idea inaugurated by the management of putting out through the audience at the matinees cool sterilized water free of charge, has proven the fact that the management is always ready to improve the already good service.

EMPIRE THEATER.

In spite of the inclement weather, business has been very good and the show this week has given unusual satisfaction. Tonight and tomorrow will be the last opportunity to witness this excellent program. Next week the management has provided a bill of star attractions. Every act has been a feature in the larger circuits in the East and is the first time they have played on a ten-cent stage. Mack and Elliot will present their laughable sketch "The New Minister." This act was the feature attraction in Kelt's, New York and is considered one of the best vaudeville sketches brought west. Direct from Australia comes Prof. Hunt with his trained dogs and monkeys. The monkey, "Sallie," is a natural clown and keeps the audience laughing all the time she is "doing her act." Theater goers will remember Eddie Leslie, who was the feature attraction at the Orpheum twelve months ago. His monologue cannot be described, but must be heard to be appreciated. His wife who is professionally known as Mlle. Leslie, is known and billed as the Queen of the Sleigh Bells. Joe Cabala, Oakland's popular baritone, will sing the latest Eastern success, "That Little Boy Called Taps."

New motion pictures direct from Miles Bros' factory will be seen for the first time on the coast. Usual matinee, Sunday and week days, children five cents.

ALCAZAR.

"Old Heidelberg" has repeated its former success at the Alcazar and the demand for seats is so insistent that the delightful play of German court and college life will be continued for one week more. "Old Heidelberg" has the magnetic quality which appeals with potent force to all classes regardless of sex or creed. The most blasé amusement seeker turns to it eagerly because of its pure and wholesome sentiment, its departure from set theatrical forms and its quaint and genial humor. It is kaleidoscopic in

DEATH IN THE TRAIL.

The Dragging Skirt a Breeding House for Germs.

In the educational crusade against consumption now being planned by the Illinois Medical Society some attention should be given to prevailing fashions in women's dress.

The street dress which sweeps the sidewalk is a death breeder. If the wearer of this dress went out deliberately to gather up the germs of disease and distribute them in her own home and in the homes of her friends, she scarcely could succeed better.

The woman with the train to her dress

She makes her statues in poetry. Nothing is natural to her but exaggeration. The tailor in the folk tale kills forty flies. "Forty" lives have been taken today, he thinks as he goes forth to new conquests. That tailor was an ancestor of Kansas.

Take home a sunflower or two. Elizabeth Clancy of La Crosse, writes to a Kansas City paper of the death of a Nebraska county follower of the Hon. Willis J. Bailey, lately Governor of Kansas.

When nearing the end, almost ready to drain the last drop from the cup of life, he asked if the Legislature had convened. He was told that it had not, but that the inauguration had taken place. Upon being handed the paper, he said he did not care to read the speech of the Governor-elect, but would like to read Governor Bailey's address. His dying word was "Bailey."

A pious man, no doubt, but his dying word was "Bailey." Politics in Kansas are "not off the bat," all the time.

A Kansas man in Chicago has not changed his mental state. Hear him staid in the Haystack Democrat.

Must a State which has produced a John Brown, a Susan B. Anthony and a John P. St. John, pass its neck to the yoke of corporate interests? Can we think the advance thoughts these pioneers have given us? We hesitate to enter untried fields, when our goal is to throttle the greatest octopus of the age?

When the sons of Kansas, fed by breath of her winds, rise up, they will crush the power of Standard Oil in the beautiful State as effectively as cyclones crush all obstruction in their pathway. I am proud of Kansas.

Frouse a hero? I say we all of us, so say we all.—New York Sun.

MODEL KANSAS HUSBAND.

What has become of the old-fashioned woman who sat up night and waited for her husband to come home from the club? Call at the Atchison homes where a man can afford to belong to a club and you will find him at home keeping up the furnace fire, looking after the children and patiently waiting for his wife to come in. The women are crazy over Schauskopf and Five Hundred and play until midnight most nights out of the week. At the house where the game is going on the man of the house gets the children to bed, hears their prayers and gives them the last drink of water, and goes quietly off to bed, as any well-behaved husband should.—Atchison Globe.

The Newest Way of Sending Money.

A brand new stamp addressed to a man in Sandusky, was sent to the Postmaster in Philadelphia the other day with a query as to whether it could be accepted by the postoffice for delivery. A two-cent stamp was affixed in the upper right-hand corner on the face of the note and the address was written with red ink on the white portion alongside the eagle. The message was written on the white space on the back of the note, also in red ink. The handwriting was in note and affixing of the stamp might be construed to be mutilating United States currency, the postmaster decided that the odd post card was mailed and it was forwarded to the address.—From the Philadelphia Record.

UNIVERSAL REGRET OVER MR. REQUA'S DEATH.

The most universal regret is expressed over the death of Mr. Requa, which, though not entirely unexpected in a man of his advanced age, was still a shock because of the fine constitution of which Mr. Requa had always taken such good care, and because of the excellent health the pioneer banker has always enjoyed. There was no man in Oakland more widely loved than Mr. Requa, and his quiet kindness and unheralded charities have endeared him to thousands of people. He had made his residence here for so many years that he was regarded as one of the oldest settlers roundabout, and the beautiful Requa home, "Highlands," standing as a landmark in the Piedmont Hills, has always been its master's joy and pride. So much was this true that the Requas never cared to do much traveling. It was too pleasant and comfortable at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Requa were married in 1868, and their early married life was spent in the mining camps of Nevada. There they founded their fortune together and theirs was an ideal married life. To the end of it they were lovers, always together, always happiest in each other's company, always thoughtful and considerate of each other. It is a beautiful thing when sentiment and romance outlast the birth of children and grandchildren, and it is, unfortunately, not common in this workaday world.

The funeral on Friday was attended by hosts of friends, each one of whom felt a sense of personal loss for the passing of the gentle, kindly soul, full of years and honors though it was. The flowers were exquisite but the spring brings only sadness to the family at Highlands. Every heart goes out in sympathy to Mrs. Requa who has given so much of her life to promote the happiness of others, and who is so lonely now. She is happy in having her children and grandchildren about her, however, and, fortunately, General and Mrs. Long are at present residents of Highlands.

NAMED FOR MR. SMITH.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Miller has been named after Mrs. Miller's guardian, Mr. F. M. Smith. The baby has received the full name of Francis Marion Smith Miller, and so will be thought a member of the family of Albert Miller, to which he is no relation, most of the sons of that family bearing three initials after the English fashion, where there are not children enough, even in their large families, to bear the names the parents wish to honor. The fashion is set, I suppose, by the royal family, whose Edward Alfred George Henry William Gustavus Adolphuses are so well known. The little boy is thriving in spite of his long name, and the entire Smith and Miller families are much interested in him.

A CRUSADE AGAINST BRIDGE.

If it needed anything to establish the popularity of bridge it was a ministerial crusade against it. Across the bay Dr. Clappett, rector of one of the largest and most fashionable churches, has taken a stand against the game. It is rather a late stand, to be sure, since no one has been playing anything but bridge for two seasons. Mr. Clappett, it seems, objects to gambling, that is, playing for prizes or money, as the two come to precisely the same thing. It always amuses me to hear women who play for prizes inveigh against women who play for money. One plays for the medium of exchange, the other for something purchased with it—that is all. Intrinsically, many people cannot see any wickedness in doing either, but, of course, judgment and moderation must be used in all things. Temperance in everything—that phrase once surely taken to heart would reform the morals of the world. I know one woman who says, of bringing up her son: "I do not forbid him anything, but I tell him that I expect him to be a gentleman and a gentleman is moderate in all things." Of course, there will always be a question as to which is the wiser plan—to allow the boy to sip wine and water at home until he regards it as part of dinner and is no more curious or interested in it than he would be in a bit of roast beef, or to keep the sideboard locked, to drink wine only when the children are away, and to make the whole thing assume the proportions of a delightful mystery. One can choose between the two methods—a great deal depending on the temperament of the child in question.

COUNTRY CLUB ENTERTAINS.

Entertaining at the Country Club is becoming more and more popular. The large luncheon given by Mrs. A. A. Moore and her daughters in honor of Miss Marion Smith, has been followed by a number of smaller ones, and almost every day sees some merry party gathered under the bright red canopies. Screens have been arranged so that the porches are protected from the boisterous breezes that blow. One of the frequent hosts is Jerome Landfield, the popular young University professor, who entertains a great deal at Claremont and at the Faculty Club in Berkeley. Not long ago Mr. Landfield gave a dinner to Joe Redding, and he recently entertained Mrs. Fred Kohl and her party of guests—Lieutenant and Mrs. Winslip, the Henry Duttons, Miss Patricia Cosgrove and several others.

Miss Florence Ives, one of the most enthusiastic golf players in San Francisco, will shortly come to the Claremont Club to spend several weeks and to play golf every day. Miss Ives competes regularly in the Tuesday tournaments which are features of the links across the bay.

SHAKESPEAREAN READINGS.

The events of the last two Tuesdays across the bay and of Tuesday of next week have been the Shakespeare readings arranged by Mrs. Francis Carolan of Burlingame for the benefit of the California Woman's Hospital. The admission charged for course tickets is high, no single admissions are permitted, and the readings are very poor. Nevertheless, the rooms have been crowded on each rendition, because it is understood to be "the proper thing" to go, and each recital has been held in a beautiful private house which some of those enthusiastic admirers of Shakespeare have never seen the inside of, which explains the rush to get tickets which were sold only by subscription.

THE TEVIS BALL.

The Tevis Mi-Careme ball, of which Dr. Harry Tevis was host, was the event of Thursday evening, which marked the middle of Lent. Usually the Spreckels have given a big affair on this date, but this was omitted last year and this year, on account of the recent wedding. All of Dr. Tevis' guests were requested to wear red dominoes, the result being perfectly bewildering. A number of large dinners preceded the event which made a gay spot in a Lent which has been by no means dismal.

THE OPERA SEASON.

The event of the coming week and of the next one will be the grand opera season across the bay—the first we have had for three years. Society on both sides of the bay is preparing for the feast of music with great delight. Many beautiful new gowns will be worn and many dinner parties are being planned to precede these musical feasts. Many large and beautiful suppers will be given after the performances, and for these the two large convenient hotels are naturally chosen. Among the supper hostesses the first night will be Mrs. A. P. Hotelling Jr., who will hostess a large party in the Palm Garden of the Palace Hotel. Mrs. William H. Crocker will also be a supper hostess. Several hostesses are preparing to give down town dinner parties for the "Parsifal" performances, where the intermission between the first and second act is not sufficient for the audience to go home.

The sale of season tickets has gone exceedingly well, and many people will go six and eight times. Some are going to hear "Parsifal" twice, so as to hear both Nordica and Fremstad in the role of Kundry. I am surprised to hear many people who have heard "Parsifal" both in Bayreuth and New York, say that they wish to hear it here again, which shows genuine interest in this heaviest of Wagnerian operas. Everyone who pretends to any aesthetic taste and can raise the money required will go to hear "Parsifal," of course, and the fact that the first day's sale of single seats was the largest in San Francisco's history, and the fact, now assured, that the season is to be a great success, does not decrease the interest. Everybody loves to be part of a great musical celebration and the crowd, the lights, the blockade of carriages, the rustle of silks and the sparkle of gems, adds delight even to the most delightful music.

One jolly party for "Parsifal" will be composed of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Moffitt, Miss Mary Dunham, James Moffitt and Charles K. Field. Between acts the party will dine together at the Bohemian Club.

THE BRETAGNO LECTURE.

The Bretagno French lecture at the Palace Hotel last Saturday night, given under the auspices of Mrs. William H. Crocker, Mrs. W. B. Bourn, Mrs. Beylard and Mrs. Robbins, was a very fashionable Lenten affair and very enjoyable. It took place in the Maple Room, and was followed by a buffet supper in the Marble Room. Among those present were Mrs. Emma Shafter Howard, Mrs. Eleanor Martin, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Deering, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lake, Karl Howard, the Pomeroyes, the Colemans, the Borels and many other San Francisco society folk.

A SUCCESSFUL LUNCHEON.

The Collegiate Alumnae gave a large luncheon on Saturday last week, at which the association entertained the presidents of all the social clubs on both sides of the bay. A number of prominent members of the association acted as hostesses at the flower-decked tables. Miss Grace de Fremery decorated the tables beautifully with fruit blossoms and wild flowers, and among the guests from this side of the bay was Mrs. Hume, representing Ebelle and Mrs. Woolsey of Berkeley. Mrs. Graupner, formerly Elise Wenzelburger, the president of the Collegiate Alumnae, presided, with Miss Jessica Peixotto as toastmistress. A number of clever toasts were made and the program lasted all the afternoon.

THE WILSON HOUSE-WARMING.

The Jack Wilsons recently christened the beautiful punch bowl and glasses presented to them by many members of the Bohemian Club on the occasion of their marriage last year. This pleasant affair occurred last Saturday afternoon and half a hundred of the most popular and prominent members of Bohemia were present with their wives. The affair was jolly and informal. Mrs. Wilson received in a most becoming white lace gown, made half low in the neck, with her hair done in a low knot at the nape of the neck. She looked charming, and made a cordial hostess. Jack Wilson is an ideal host.

TWO SUCCESSFUL DINNERS.

Two very successful club dinners were given this week at the University Club. On Monday Dr. Van Dyke of Princeton was the honored guest, and on Wednesday, Hall McAllister, the popular San Franciscan, was honored with a dinner, at which seventy-five of the most representative men in the city gathered to do this son of a distinguished father honor. Thomas Magee is the president of the University Club and he presided very ably. A number of clever speeches were made by different men, most of them prominent members of the bar. The affair was very delightful. The Hawaiian string quartet furnished the music.

ENTERTAINING FRIENDS.

Miss Alda and Miss Blanche Layman are entertaining Miss Edwina Crouch of Sacramento at their East Oakland home. A number of informal affairs are planned for the popular young visitor, who has made a number of friends during her stay here.

PLANS FOR THE COMING SUMMER.

On every hand you hear plans for the coming summer. Not far away from us are the mountains, and close at hand is the sea shore, from either of which one may choose an abiding place. Almost every family plans an outing, for one may live expensively at Del Monte or at Coronado, or at the Hotel Potter, or else life may be lived out along simple lines at some quiet little "shack" in the redwoods.

It was surprising how many people went away for even the week's vacation just ended. In many cases, country homes were not closed at all this winter, for people planned to run down to country places from Friday till Monday. One hears that winter in the Santa Cruz Mountains is simply charming. The early June days will see a perfect exodus from Oakland, and many who have not children in school are planning an early departure.

The first to leave town are always the Chabots, for Mrs. Chabot is exceedingly fond of "Villaremi," her country home near St. Helena. She remains there all through the summer and till winter is almost here. The house on Madison street will not be closed this summer. The Diekmans and the Dunns will take turns in going to St. Helena, and Mrs. Chabot will plan the usual house parties for the week end.

Mrs. T. C. Coogan and the Misses Coogan always spend some days of the spring at Inverness, and they have been there all this week.

At Inverness is the Craig cottage, "Craigbrae," and Miss Jessie Craig entertains house parties there all through the summer. Mrs. Pattiani makes a most delightful chaperon.

The Dornas are planning to build a charming summer home at Inverness where Miss Helen Dornas' friends will enjoy many pleasant days.

The Costigans go very early in the season to their picturesque lodge in Mill Valley, and they stay there till the first rains warn them to come home. Mrs. Costigan usually has with her her very pretty niece, Miss Helen Post of Sacramento, and she always makes very welcome many of her young girl friends.

The Costigan home at Mill Valley is just across the creek from "Blithedale," and here one always finds many Oakland people. The Charles R. Allens and Miss Gertrude Allen spent the entire summer last year at Blithedale, and are planning to go there again this summer. Mrs. Charles Houghton and Miss Ruth Houghton also spent the summer at Blithedale. They go there every year, and last summer they chaperoned Miss Katherine Brown. They will leave for Blithedale early this year.

Mrs. Tom Magee and Mrs. Joe Tobin are simply inseparable friends. They spent some delightful weeks together in New York last year, and each year the Tobins open "Arcadia," their summer home in Napa county, where bright house parties enjoy one round of entertainment.

The Will Magees recently returned from an extensive trip through Mexico. They are in San Francisco, where all their winters are spent, now, and it is not decided where they will spend the coming summer. "Alden Farm," in the foothills, has never been the same since the destructive fire which swept over it last year, destroying all the vegetation, and the quaint old garden, which made it so picturesque.

The Athearn Folgers are now at Del Monte, and Mrs. J. A. Folger, with Mrs. Tibbetts, is now at Del Monte also. The Athearn Folgers have established a splendid country home near Redwood City. It is planned along English lines, and reminds one of the big English estates, characteristic of English country life. Mrs. Folger divides her time in the summer between Del Monte and her son's home near Redwood City.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Driscoll, formerly Miss Alice Bacon, will return from Europe this summer. They will take up their permanent residence at Menlo Park, as Mrs. Driscoll is very fond of country life, and Mr. Driscoll is much identified with "the Burlingame set."

IN THE SANTA CRUZ MOUNTAINS.

The Santa Cruz Mountains seem to have a great attraction for Oakland people. The William Highs purchased a very picturesque cottage in the Santa Cruz Mountains last year, and they intend to spend their summers there hereafter. The Bishops have had their home at Ben Lomond open all winter and Miss Cordie Bishop has entertained many week end parties.

One of the most elaborately planned homes in the heart of the Santa Cruz Mountains, is that of the Horace Husseys. Miss Evelyn Hussey has been East all winter. The early part of the winter was spent in New York, and recent months have been spent in Cleveland, where Miss Hussey has been extensively entertained. Their delightful lodge in the mountains is across the creek from Rowdennan, and Miss Hussey always has house parties for many weeks of the summer.

Doctor and Mrs. Herbert Moffitt and their children go to Sonoma for part of each summer, and they are the guests there of Mrs. Rudolph Spreckle, who is Mrs. Moffitt's sister. The little daughter of the Herbert Moffitts was christened recently and she has been named "Alice Moffitt," in compliment to her aunt, Mrs. George Doubleday, formerly Alice Moffitt.

THOSE WHO GO EAST.

Among those who go East every summer are Mr. and Mrs. Q. A. Chase. Mr. Chase is of old New England ancestry, and many of his near relatives live at Freeport, Maine. It has represented the old family home for generations, and Mr. Chase goes back each summer. There is a most delightful summer home on an island near Freeport, where Miss Helen Chase always loves to entertain friends in the summer.

MR. BUTTERS HAS BEEN ILL.

Mr. Henry Butters has been ill this winter, so it is not decided whether the family will go to "Constantia" or not this season. Those who go to the Sierras leave later in the summer. One hears that the Charles S. Wheelers have developed a magnificent estate at "The Bend" on the McCloud river. During the entire summer it is full of guests. President and Mrs. Wheeler always spend some weeks at "The Bend" and there are always the distinguished men who come from Europe for the summer school. Mrs. Wheeler has spent so many summers in the Sierras, that she knows exactly how to entertain there. The women of her house parties are expected to appear always in shirt waists and short skirts, even for dinner. And unless you are ill, the seven o'clock breakfast hour is expected to be observed.

The Thomas Williams have a home on the McCloud river, not far from the Wheelers, and the Steeles and Shiels are always among the guests.

The Thomas Prathers spend part of each summer in the Sierras, and Mrs. Prather is very fond of "Forest Meadows," the country home on a high plateau in Slakiyou county.

RESTFUL AT THE MISSION.

Secretary and Mrs. Metcalf are planning to spend some weeks, if possible, at their country place near Mission San Jose.

There is the most restful atmosphere near that charming old town, and nothing to do, but just drive along country roads in a lazy, picturesque way. Life is lived quite simply, after the indolent fashion of the early Spanish settlers, and it is just as far removed as possible from the social whirl of Washington.

There is no telephone in the Metcalf home, and a telegram must be taken out by a messenger, who has to ride miles, so the Secretary's peace of mind is not often disturbed. The Metcalfs may take back with them to Washington next winter Miss Viva Nicholson, who is so bright and so pretty that she will be a great help to sister in the social entertainment which marks official life in Washington.

CAMPING OFFERS ATTRACTIVE.

Camping offers many attractions in California for those who like that kind of life. And the most picturesque camp that one could find anywhere is "Camp Luning," near Cloverdale. There is always so much to do, with swimming, driving and fishing. The Luning are all good riders, and they take long rides up picturesque trails in the mountains. The camp is electric lighted, and there is a telephone, and the delightful days of summer pass all too quickly in the out-of-door life that is so charming a phase of California summer existence.

MISS ELSEY IN THE SOUTH.

Miss Charlotte Elsey is in Los Angeles, where she is being most delightfully entertained. Before returning to Oakland she will visit her sister at the latter's home in Fresno.

TOWNES HAVE BEEN AT HIGHLANDS.

Mrs. A. N. Towne and her daughter, Mrs. Worden, have been at "Highlands," the Requa home at Piedmont, some days this week. When the sad news from Highlands reached them, they came immediately over, and have been at Highlands ever since. They have been intimate friends of the Requas since the early California days. Mr. Granville Abbott came from Nevada, and has been with Mr. Mark Requa, and Mrs. Abbott came up from Los Angeles, arriving in Oakland on Friday morning.

MISS HALL IS GOING AWAY.

Miss Louise Hall is going to the Hawaiian Islands, sailing in the near future. Miss Hall is to visit relatives who live on one of the smaller islands, and she will not return to Oakland until autumn.

AN INTERESTING MUSICAL.

One of the interesting musicals of the week will be given at Century Hall in San Francisco, by the Twentieth Century Music Club, one of the most important clubs of San Francisco.

A fine program has been arranged, and the soloist of the afternoon, will be Miss Karoline Little of this city.

An exceedingly interesting morning of music is planned by the Wednesday Morning Musical Club for next week. It is to be an open meeting, to which members may bring their friends, and promises to be one of the leading events in social and musical circles next week.

HUBBARDS STILL IN EUROPE.

The Samuel Hubbards are still in Southern Europe, where they have spent a most delightful winter. They stayed for some weeks at Mentone, which has the most delightful climate to be found anywhere in Europe.

Now they are traveling with a party of friends. Miss Grace Holt was to have joined them in their tour of Europe, but she had a splendid opportunity to come home, so she changed her mind, and arrived in San Francisco this week. Her aunt, Miss Anna and Miss Myra Holt, are spending the winter in San Francisco, the guests of their niece, Mrs. Charles Plum.

MEETING AT MRS. MATTHEWS' HOME.

One of the very interesting meetings of the week was held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Matthews on Oak street. It represented a meeting of those interested in the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Many plans were discussed for making the work of the society more effective, and for obtaining new members to aid in the good work. In the past, Mrs. Requa and Mrs. Long have been greatly interested, and the most active members in the society have been Mrs. Arthur Holland and Mrs. Joseph Matthews.

At the meeting this week, among others, were Mrs. William Keith of Berkeley, Mrs. Boone of Berkeley, Mrs. Frank Soule, Mrs. Charles Butters, Mrs. Oscar Luning, Mrs. Thomas Wade, Mrs. A. D. Thomson, Miss Thomson, Mrs. Arthur Holland, Mrs. Joseph Matthews.

After the meeting, there was an informal tea, when the plans of the society were further discussed. The society will be represented at the "Floral Parade" and at Idora Park on May-day.

The next meeting will be held at Berkeley at the home of Mrs. Frank Soule.

THE TOM MAGEES ENTERTAIN.

The Tom Magees are entertaining extensively in San Francisco this winter. They have been at the Palace and their little dinners in the Palm Garden are bright affairs. The dinner is usually followed by a theater party, and the Tom Magees know how to make both very effective.

Mr. Tom Magee Jr. has lately purchased one of the finest residences on Pacific avenue, and the Magee residence in the future promises to represent one of the most prominent homes in San Francisco.

MRS. SHAW IN FLORIDA.

Mrs. John Shaw, who is Mrs. Requa's sister, has been spending the winter in Florida. While at Palm Beach she met with a painful accident, falling from a chair and breaking her arm. Mrs. Shaw was utterly prostrated by the news from California, and she will return to New York as soon as possible. Important business details will also take Mr. Mark Requa to New York in the very near future.

CARD PARTY AT BRIGHAM HOME.

Among the younger set of girls one of the leading events of the week will be the card party given at the Brigham home, on Oak street, on Saturday afternoon. The hostesses will be Miss Beulah Brigham and Miss Clara English, and they are to entertain in honor of Miss Mary van de Carr Hyde, whose attendants they are to be at the coming wedding of Miss Hyde and Lieut. Hathaway.

Among the young people invited to the card party are Miss Gladys Brigham, Miss Claire Chabot, Miss Gladys English, Miss Katherine Hyde, Miss Louise Hall, Miss Christine English, Miss Bessie Coghill, Miss Vita Vincent, Miss Susie Harold, Miss Katherine Brown, Miss Anita Thomson, Miss Rose Kales, Miss Noelle DeGolia, Miss Ruth Houghton, Miss Polly Mathews, the Misses Burdick, Miss Peggy Stowe, the Misses Harmon, Miss Irene Bangs, the Misses McElrath.

The card party promises to furnish a most enjoyable afternoon for the young hostesses.

YOUNG GIRLS HAVE PLEASANT DAYS.

Meanwhile many of the young girls are spending some exceedingly pleasant Easter days together. They meet at each others' homes, and the results in the line of dainty needle-work are admirable.

They learn to know each other better, for meeting in this informal way. Some of the girls have been away at school, and others are new comers, so the "Thimble Teas,"—there was music in place, in which young people get acquainted, some of them all over again.

For the girl of today is not altogether the girl one used to know two or three years ago.

Miss Helen Dornin was the hostess early in the week. There was music by way of entertaining the guests, and Miss Gertrude Russell read in a most charming fashion "The Pretty Sister of Jose."

Miss Gertrude Russell was the hostess on Wednesday, at a very fascinating "Thimble Bee,"—there was music for the guests, and reading aloud, and the interesting hostess planned "chafing dish" refreshments. There is something very interesting in all "chafing dish stunts,"—you feel that the eyes of the multitude are upon you, and your success is uncertain. You never know the result of the chafing dish experiment, till you watch the faces of your friends, as they devour the result.

The results at Miss Russell's were happy ones, and the young guests know how to manage "creamed oysters," a la chafing dish. Among the merry guests were Miss Kitty Kutz, Miss Louise Hall, Miss Charlotte Hall, Miss Bessie Haven, Miss Edna Prather, Miss Helen Chase, Miss Anita Thomson, Miss Marguerite Butters, Miss Katherine Brown, Miss Ruth Houghton, Miss Little Reed.

MISS KEMPF'S ACCIDENT.

Charming Cornelia Kempf, daughter of Rear-Admiral Kempf of the United States Navy, has just returned to San Francisco after a trying experience at Santa Barbara, where she was maid of honor to her friend, Miss Alice Bacon upon her marriage to Thomas Driscoll. Miss Kempf was the guest of the Bacons during her visit in the South, and it was not planned that she should remain after the wedding; indeed, she had important social engagements awaiting her in Oakland, but she sprained her ankle during the progress from the altar to the carriage. It was, to be accurate, on one of the steps of the old Mission, which are worn and hollowed by the feet of generations, that the young girl's foot twisted. The accident did not seem serious at the moment, and Cornelia was one of the merriest at the wedding breakfast. When she tried afterwards to walk upstairs, however, she fell, and had to be carried to her room. Until this week she has been a resident of the hospitable home of the Bacon family. It is hinted—but mind, I do not vouch for this—that Master Cupid perched very close to the maiden during her convalescence. There is a man of excellent family and of much wealth wintering in Santa Barbara, who has showered books, flowers and bonbons upon the young invalid, and has devoted many hours to her amusement. It is hinted that there may be another engagement announced in navy circles when the Kempfs are settled in their handsome home in Berkeley. I hear that the Admiral is not willing that his daughter should settle down before she has made her debut and seen something of the world. It may be, though, that the offer will prove too good to refuse when taken in connection with the old-fashioned romantic attachment that is said to exist between the two.—Wasp.

ARE NOW IN WASHINGTON.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Jonas, accompanied by their daughter, are now in Washington, D. C., having arrived there from New Orleans last Thursday. While in the capital they will be entertained by Secretary Victor H. Metcalf. They are having an enjoyable trip and expect to be in New York City early next week.

LUNCHEON GIVEN BY MRS. MORSE.

The most interesting luncheon of the week was that given by Mrs. Frederick Morse at her home on Harrison and Fourteenth streets, last Monday afternoon. The luncheon was a very elaborate affair, the guests being seated at two circular tables, one being presided over by Mrs. Morse and the other by Mrs. Henry Rosenfeld. The tables were beautifully decorated with green tulle and white lilies. The early flowers of the spring were used in an artistic manner for decoration. After the luncheon the guests enjoyed several games of five hundred. I am told the luncheon was a complete success, as are all the affairs presided over by the popular hostess, Mrs. Morse. The guests were: Mrs. Wickham Havens, Mrs. Edward Engs, Mrs. William Gage, Mrs. Henry Rosenfeld, Mrs. J. Lorin Pease, Mrs. D. A. Proctor, Mrs. Edward Howard, Miss Carrie Nicholson, Mrs. A. A. Long, Miss Ena Langworthy, Miss Belle Nicholson, Mrs. James Tyson, Mrs. George Gross, Mrs. J. C. Hampton, Mrs. William L. Shields, Mrs. Frank Watson, Mrs. Roy Mauvais, Mrs. John F. Connors, Mrs. George E. Perkins, Mrs. Felton Taylor, Mrs. Charles H. Lovell.

GEISLERS WILL LIVE HERE.

The Geislars are planning to make their permanent home on this side of the bay and will probably choose a site on one of the near by hillsides. They are among those who always go to Blithedale in Mill Valley for the summer.

GAVE INFORMAL EVENING.

Mrs. Christian Reis of San Francisco

so gave an informal evening last week in honor of Miss Viva Nicholson, who was her guest for some days. Miss Nicholson has returned to Oakland.

AWAY ON SHORT TRIPS.

The Jarboes of San Francisco have been spending some time in Santa Cruz, and they have had as their guest Mrs. W. S. Goodfellow.

Mrs. Ernest Cotton is often at Santa Cruz, the guest of her sister, Mrs. F. O. Eihn. The Eihns are among the most prominent people of Santa Cruz, and are always entertaining in a large and elaborate way.

WITH THE DAN BELDENs.

There are always many guests at the picturesque Dan Belden home in East Oakland. Mrs. Laws and her daughters are spending some weeks of the spring with the Dan Belden, and Miss Lalla Wenzelberger has been Mrs. Belden's guest this week.

WILL GO TO LOS GATOS.

The Prentiss Selbys have decided to go to Los Gatos to spend the entire summer. They are building a bungalow in the hills near Los Gatos, and the entire family will go there when the weather is a little warmer.

DEATH OF MR. REQUA.

But after all the heart went out of social life this week, for how could people enjoy things social,—when the great shadow lay deep and dark about Highlands.

Every one knew Mr. Requa, and far and wide, there has been a sense of deep personal loss. And it has not been the lighter side of life that has appealed to us this week. While I write, flowers are bringing many a message to the home, and friends are preparing to go to the home, in which there has been so much happiness,—but in which now sorrow reigns.

I, too, must join the sorrowful throng wending its way to "Highlands," to do honor to the much-loved one who leaves his home for the last time!

THE MEDDLER.

The next meeting of the Hill Club will take place on Monday, April 10, at the home of Mrs. J. P. Garlich at the corner of Oakland and Bay Vista avenues.

FOR TWO GUESTS.

Miss Louise Hall and Miss Elsie Campbell, who will soon leave on long journeys, will be the motif of a luncheon given by Miss Ray Morrow on Tuesday, April 11.

Miss Hall leaves early in April to spend several months with friends in Honolulu, and within a few weeks Miss Campbell is to sail for the old world for a long tour.

The luncheon guests will number a dozen, all old friends.

"PARSIFAL" LECTURE.

The lecture on "Parsifal," with piano interpretations by Miss A. K. Wilson, to be given Tuesday evening, April 4, at Ebell Club rooms, promises to be one of the musical and social events of the week.

Tickets are on sale at Sherman & Clay's, also at Ebell Club rooms.

HARRY VINCENT HERE.

Harry Vincent of Spokane, Wash., accompanied by his wife, is in Oakland on account of the illness of his mother who is at the East Bay Sanitarium. Mr. Vincent has been connected with the Exchange National Bank of Spokane for twelve years.

Previous to his residence in the North, his boyhood days were spent in Oakland and San Jose.

It is the intention of the society to make the animal ambulance, secured last year at a cost of $800, a feature of the floral parade. Not only will it be gorgeously decorated, but it will have a large body of young society girls at outrides, under the leadership of Dr. J. C. Carpenter of Alameda. The fair esquestrienne have not yet been chosen, but Mrs. William Keith of Berkeley and Mrs. A. P. No woman who uses "Mother's Friend" need fear the suffering and danger incident to birth; for it robs the ordeal of its horror and insures safety to life of mother and child, and leaves her in a condition more favorable to speedy recovery. The child is also healthy, strong and good-natured. Our book "Motherhood," is worth its weight in gold to every woman, and will be sent free in plain envelope by addressing application to Bradfield Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga.

LADIES AT LAST.

All things come at last to those who know how to wait, but the interval is sometimes long and tedious. Three hundred years ago there was a little group of ladies in Scotland who tried to obtain something and failed. Last week their successors at length obtained their just desires. When James I found that the wives of the Lords of Session were trying to get themselves called "my lady," he would have none of it. He said, "I made the earls lords, but who made the carlines ladies?" His descendants and successors, sitting Edward VII as made the carlines ladies at last, and by his reigns in more than one feminine reign, the name of "my lady" is no longer in doubt, an anomaly that a husband should be "your lordship" and his wife plain "my lady," but it is one from which bishops' wives suffer to this day, and from which they will probably continue to suffer.

GOSSIP OF THE SAN FRANCISCO WEEKLIES

GENEROSITY OF THE HEARSTS

Those who were grumbling because Mrs. Phoebe Hearst had not given anything to the University of California this year were rather taken aback on Charter Day, when President Wheeler read the list of donations, at the head of which was the name of Mrs. Hearst, who had contributed $150,000. That sum is independent of the cost of the magnificent Mining Building which is nearing completion. When Wheeler further announced that William Randolph Hearst had signified his intention of putting white marble seats in place of the concrete ones that are now in use in the Amphitheatre, and of adding also a number of superb marble figures by way of ornament, the news was received with shouts from the students, a chorus of "Hearst, Hearst, Hooray, Hooray, California forever! Hearst, Hearst, Oski Wow Wow!" rending the air and sending a smile over the face of Professor Henry Van Dyke, who was on the platform with the faculty. The Princeton professor remarked to Professor Moses, "This air is conducive to fine lungs."

"Yes," answered the Berkeley man, "the air is blamed for a great many things."—Town Talk.

UNIVERSITY REFORM

A great wave of reform is sweeping over the State University. Faculty and students have resolved to protect the institution from further scandalous upheavals. At a recent meeting of the student body it was decided that the practice of carousing on the Telegraph avenue cars at midnight and after be frowned upon, and that those students who are in the habit of frequenting places of vice in Oakland be denied the confidence of their more virtuous fellows. The men also pledged themselves to stand with the faculty in freezing out the university thieves and gamblers, and to do their utmost to elevate the standard of college life.—Town Talk.

TURNER'S PERTINENT QUERY

Henry Van Dyke's address on Charter Day at Berkeley, Thursday of last week, was a model of all that an address ought to be and usually is not. It was forceful, clear, beautifully composed and splendidly delivered. Many clergymen were there to hear him and they tried to look solemn when the distinguished doctor of divinity said that a rich woman once said to Turner, the painter, "Why, Mr. Turner; I never saw a landscape look like that" (pointing to one of Turner's pictures). "No," said Turner, "of course you haven't. Don't you wish to God you could?"—Town Talk.

WHEELER'S GREAT VICTORY

The smile of satisfaction that illumines the face of President Wheeler of the State University is not expressive of his joy over having routed those pestiferous meddlers who were trying to stir up trouble over the McKowen shortage. The smile was superinduced by another victory—that which secured for him an appropriation of fifteen thousand dollars for the furnishing of the residence built for him on the University grounds. The residence cost nearly twenty-five thousand dollars. The furnishing problem has been a nightmare to the president. Though he gets ten thousand dollars a year and is worth every cent of it, so his admirers say, he felt that he could not afford to furnish that big house. When Mrs. Hearst first went to Berkeley and began looking around for a home President Wheeler beamed. He had just the house she wanted. He urged her to take up her residence in the big structure that had been built for him—to make herself at home rent free. But she preferred another house, and then the gossips of Berkeley said it was too bad because if Mrs. Hearst had furnished the Wheeler residence, when she moved out she would of course turn the furnishings over to the President in return for his courtesy. The house has remained vacant ever since, and it was thought President Wheeler had abandoned hope of ever becoming its occupant, when suddenly came the flank movement on the Legislature. Only a few days before the matter came up for consideration in the Senate he forwarded a letter to Senator Waste from the college physician setting forth in detail how the structure could be transformed to serve as a University hospital. While waiting for the present structure to be completed or some other house to be provided President Wheeler has been allowed one thousand dollars a year with which to pay house rent. This of course is outside of his ten thousand salary. For some time past there has been a delicate "feeler" out to ascertain if the Board of Regents would continue to allow him this extra thousand dollars upon condition that he himself would take up the matter of furnishing the new house. But the regents ignored the bait and a chance to dicker. That is why the matter was taken to the Legislature, where it was successfully put through. Senator Carter, whose report on financial affairs at the University under Secretary McKowen was turned down, seized the opportunity to declare that he wasn't in favor of bestowing carpets and furniture on a state employee who was getting a salary of ten thousand dollars a year.—Town Talk.

A GAMBLING EPISODE IN SOCIETY

The gambling craze is spreading in society. The passion for bridge is responsible for it. Some of our most fashionable matrons have become inveterate gamblers and a great deal of money changes hands at a single sitting. At Miss Eleanor Morgan's card party recently the ladies at one of the tables played for a small stake on the side, but not with the permission of the hostess. When Miss Morgan heard that some of her guests were gambling she promptly entered a protest. She examined the score and found that a woman who could ill afford to lose had lost heavily. She thereupon tore up the score. The loser, however, carefully gathered the fragments together, took them home and pieced them out, and the next day her husband sent checks to the three winners for the amounts lost by his wife.—Town Talk.

THAT BRIBERY STORY

Billy Bourn, millionaire and president of the Gas Company and president of the University Club, appears to have got himself into more than a peck of trouble in connection with that story about the bribe-seeking of certain supervisors. After the Examiner had published the story Bourn came out with a denial. According to The Knave of the Oakland TRIBUNE staff, when Mr. Bourn made the denial he knew the story was true. "He had told the whole thing," says The Knave, "to William G. Stafford, a member of the Grand Jury and a fellow Pacific-Union Club member. Stafford had told the other Grand Jurors. Then the story leaked out. Before Bourn printed his denial Stafford made him strike out a paragraph denying that he had ever told the story to a Grand Juror. But the rest of the story Bourn published, knowing he was publishing a lie." That is what I consider a pretty tough accusation. Mr. Bourn is a man of the highest standing in club and commercial circles and his friends feel that he is the victim of a misunderstanding.—Town Talk.

THE SISTERS-IN-LAW ARE FRIENDS

Mrs. Thomas Watson and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Rudolph Spreckels, are great friends and are often seen together, accompanied by the former's pretty stepdaughter. Mrs. Watson wears a deep mourning with a heavy veil, although English widows are now permitted to garb themselves in white, which is not unbecoming. Mrs. Spreckels and Mrs. Watson make an admirable contrast, their types of beauty being so different. The former, who wore white continually last season, has adopted pale blue this year, and usually appears in light blue, light tan or pale gray frocks, but always with pale blue hat and sunshade.—Town Talk.

IS BUILDING A MONUMENT TO HER HUSBAND

Mrs. Caesar Young, having recovered her health, is now busy erecting a monument to the memory of her husband "whose faith she never doubted." It is going to be an expensive piece of marble. The principal feature is the figure of a beautiful woman, whose bare arms are clasped around the base of a broken column, against which she leans in grief. The figure is life size, the monument itself being about seven feet in height. The widow attributes all the unhappiness surrounding her husband's sudden end to his one great weakness—liquor.—Town Talk.

CONRIED'S FIRST AIDE

Max Hirsch, who was here with Grau during his two grand opera seasons, and later with the Duss orchestra and Nordica, comes again with the Conried organization. Some time since a rumor was waited out from New York that Hirsch's eyes were seriously affected and that he would have to give up his position as Conried's first lieutenant in consequence. But it turned out to be an exaggerated report, the eye trouble being only temporary. Hirsch is a very popular man among the Metropolitan subscribers and it is not likely Conried could get along without him. He has a great memory and never forgets a face. What is more, he can always join that face to its correct name. He has had wide experience with capricious prime donne and none understands better than he how to cajole them into good humor. I should like to read a volume of Hirsch's reminiscences, for he must have a fine collection of stories to draw upon of grand opera and concert stars. He is a striking looking man, and though only about forty years of age his hair has been gray for many years.—Town Talk.

CONRIED A BUSINESS MAN

Herr Conried is not of the imposing appearance of his predecessor, Grau. He is small and slight of build. However he has a financial ability of far more robust proportions than his physique. He is a rich man because he has always kept his eye, Meisner-like, on the details that count. I have before related an instance of his business sagacity, but it was so long ago that it is worth repeating. In a trip abroad to engage talent for his Irving Place theatre he noticed how few lounging chairs there were on the German liner, and what chairs there were belonged to the people occupying them. He figured out that others might like the use of such chairs without having to purchase them. The result of this figuring was that on the next trip of the liner, there were numerous steamer chairs to rent for the voyage. It was Herr Conried who had secured the privilege from the company of thus supplying comfort to the passengers and increasing his own income. It is this business acumen that has made the shareholders of the Metropolitan Opera House so jubilant since Conried took the reins of management. He has saved money for the stockholders and paid dividends. He is always on the lookout for what the public wants, and he gives it to them. While he refuses to pay the enormous salaries Grau gave to the big stars, and in consequence some of them refused to sing this season they are nearly all coming to him next season. America is too good a market to be closed to European operatic talent.—Town Talk.

MAURICE BARRYMORE IS DEAD

On the eve of the first appearance of his eldest son, Lionel, as a star in this city, comes word of Maurice Barrymore's death in the sanitarium where his last years had been passed. Barrymore's career came to an end when he became the victim of paresis. I remember the night, many years ago, when Wilton Lackaye, Barrymore and some other members of the A. M. Palmer company, were gathered in the Baldwin bar, and Lackaye made the remark that most of his actor friends were going the pace so rapidly that of the leading men of the day he would soon be the only one left. He spoke truly, as he did when he penned his epitaph of his lazy, lovable friend who was always "going to do, and died with nothing done." Maurice Barrymore, newspaper man, playwright, actor and athlete, was a genius who might have accomplished great things, if he had not been too much of a "good fellow." He was everybody's friend and dissipation killed him. There never was such a story-teller as big, handsome Maurice. He had a way of pointing his tales with a shrug of his broad shoulders and a merry twinkle in his dark eyes. I could relate a whole string of his stories, some that I heard him tell, others that were told me by his friends. Modjeska was not the only one who rebuked Barrymore and received a bit of quotable repartee in return. When Barrymore was Lily Langtry's leading man in "As in a Looking Glass," in one of the scenes he had to help her on with her wrap. Once or twice he did this rather awkwardly and one night, after the curtain fell, the Lily turned to the actor and, with great indignation, said:

"I see that you are not accustomed to assisting ladies."

"My mother and my wife are the only ones that I ever was accustomed to assisting," he replied.

"I said ladies," snapped La Langtry.

"Oh," returned the actor, "I see. You refer to women of the demi-monde."

Langtry, so the sequel goes, reported this to Freddy Gebhard, and told the latter it was his duty to chastise the actor, but Gebhard saw no occasion for attempting that feat.—Town Talk.

THE BOOMING OF TULLY

Says a writer in the OAKLAND TRIBUNE: "Among the successful authors of the year must be reckoned Mr. Richard Walton Tully, who has recently brought out his play, 'Juanita of San Juan.' Mr. Tully leaves California in a few days, going directly to London, where he is to supervise the staging of the play. Competent critics have nothing but praise for the artistic excellence of the beautiful play." That puts me in the incompetent class, but while I am on my way to the remote rear in quest of an obscure seat will one of the competent critics please step to the front, reveal his identity and point out some of the artistic excellence of the beautiful Tully play? I crave enlightenment, but not for my own edification do I make this simple suggestion. All admirers of home talent should welcome a learned exposition of the artistic features of this California playlet. I am sure the readers of Town Talk will hail with delight a little expert opinion on the subject of this breezy dialogue in costume, together with an analysis of the artistry employed by Mr. Tully. I have been told that the first act is a gem of dramatic literature. I thought it the only act that does not abound in amateurish banality. FIVE WK... 13 L P. ROBITIES. I could see no sparkle in it, but the scenery and costumes were conducive to atmosphere, and it gave promise, the first breach of which occurred in the second act. Indeed, it is a breach of promise play from the going down of the curtain on the first act, but I forgot—I am one of the incompetent critics.

HE POCKETED GOODWIN'S CHECK

Far be it from me to question the genius of Mr. Tully. I know that he is a successful author, because I know that he sold a play to Mr. Nat Goodwin. I have heard that Mr. Goodwin paid him five thousand dollars for the play in a burst of enthusiasm, and that now he has not the temerity to produce it. I have heard that in that play Mr. Tully gives great promise in the first act, renews it in the second act and then goes to pieces. But the best playwrights "fall down" occasionally, just as the worst playwrights sometimes surprise themselves as well as the public. As for "Juanita of San Juan," I feel certain that it is not to be produced in London; at any rate, not in its present shape. On the strength of the promise of the first act it might be worth whipping into a real, live drama.—Town Talk.

A FORTUNE IN GERMANY

It is to be hoped that Miss Mabel Hansen's great estates in Germany are not of the same class as Mr. Claude Melnotte's castles in Spain. The pretty and intelligent junior at the University of California has placed into the hands of Mr. Theodore Roche, of the law firm of Sullivan & Sullivan, a claim against the German Government for restoration to her of $11,000,000 worth of real estate which belonged to her maternal grandfather. The claim refers to the "Grawburgh" estate, which belonged to Miss Hansen's grandfather. According to the story, Miss Hansen's ancestor was residing in New York, and "owing to a family dispute he put in no claim and the estate reverted to the German Government." The Hansen claim is romantic, but at present as intangible as that of Samuel Calvert, an English engraver and painter, who has a claim on the ground on which was built the city of Baltimore. The whole tract of land on which Baltimore stands and a vast area besides was granted by the King of England to the notorious Lord Baltimore, who stood a state trial for the abduction of a pretty girl and whose name figures in the exciting pages of the "Newgate Calendar." Calvert is undoubtedly a grandson of Lord Baltimore, who married secretly the pretty daughter of his librarian of the Castle at Altona, near Hamburg. Mr. Calvert would, however, stand very little chance to substantiate his claim against the Government of the United States.—Wasp.

A SPLIT IN BOHEMIA

A sensation has been sprung in the Bohemian Club by the nomination of Mr. Billy Barton for president and Mr. Dick Hotelling for vice-president. The Wasp stated recently that it was all "cut and dried" that Mr. Fred Hall was to succeed Mr. Phelan as president, and Dr. Jack Shiels was to be vice-president. In Bohemia, however, no one can tell five seconds in advance of an event just what turn it will take. It is thus that the true Bohemian spirit makes itself manifest, and such is the case now. The opposition ticket is a protest of "Bohemianism" against "commercialism." The real Bohemians always maintain a hostile attitude towards the influence of the wealthy business men in the club, except when there is a heavy deficit and an assessment impending. Then the true sprigs of Bohemia take a back seat most willingly, while the fat and sleek representatives of the thrift of Front and California streets dig deep into their pockets and furnish the needful. Bohemia and the eccentricities of its talented sons are great studies for any student of human nature. But genius has ever been whimsical.

THE OLD GUARD IN ARMS

Although James D. Phelan is one of the richest men in the club, he has always affiliated with the artistic and literary element in the Bohemian Club, and was their choice for president. Mr. Phelan has been the good angel of the club, and I believe extricated it from some financial difficulties such as all clubs find themselves immersed in occasionally. A very rich man of Mr. Phelan's peculiar temperament is undoubtedly a prize for a club founded on the brains of the erratic children of Bohemia. You might search the world and not find a more suitable man for president. I believe that some of the more sedate members of the old guard, like Colonel Hawes, believe that the brilliancy of the Bohemian Club's future lies in resembling as closely as possible the ponderous and perfect respectability of the Pacific Union. There are other members even more sedate than Colonel Hawes, who hold that the ideal Bohemia would be a domino-players' room, permeated by the atmosphere of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Phelan, I understand, was proffered renomination for the presidency, but it was done in such a way that he could not possibly accept it, and then the program candidate, Mr. Fred Hall, was nominated. Of this gentleman, it may be remarked that he has the reputation of being "a splendid fellow," and an excellent lawyer; but Bohemia looks cross-eyed at him over its palettes and its ink bottles. Fearing a recurrence of the solemnly conventional administration of Mr. Vanderlyn Stow and Mr. Frank Deering, the untrammelled spirits of the club have risen in protest and for self-protection placed an anti-domino-players' ticket in the field. Joe Redding, Jack Wilson, Billy Smith, Courtney Ford, Robert Aitken, Theodore Wores and kindred spirits will support the opposition candidate; while Colonel Hawes, Vanderlyn Stow, Robert Howe Fletcher and the advocates of conservatism will leave no stone unturned in their efforts to elect the Hall ticket. The battle is on in earnest, and the slogan of the Hall faction is, "The domination of players shall not be disturbed, but must dwell in peace." History will need several kinds of ink to record the memorable event.—Wasp.

The wayfaring man, though a fool, could not have failed to notice, that in their quixotic running to and fro to catch the Stege highwaymen, the detectives and police have been careful to first rush off to the newspapers and tell the public all about their new-found clues, pointers and trails, and then set out to make arrests. He is a fool of a hunter who sends some one into the brush to drive out the game before he starts in to shoot something, but that is the way the law officers are hunting for the Stege robbers. Wonder why the police tell all the world today what they are going to do tomorrow? Are they so idiotic as to suppose they are not warning and notifying the robbers to seek more secure shelter? And what do they do it for?

DIFFERED FROM SETON THOMPSON

In the audience of society people who listened to the eminent naturalist, Ernest Seton Thompson, when he lectured in the Alameda High School last week, were a number of small children who were all attention to the anecdotes of well-known animals. One particular interesting story told by Mr. Thompson was of the catching and taming of a skunk. He dwelt upon the intelligence of the animal, and spoke of its ready response to kindness. Then he related in detail the sad plight of a dog which tried to handle the long-furred animal roughly. Perhaps none other of Mr. Thompson's stories was told as dramatically, although he spoke of all four-footed things of the wild as if he knew, loved and understood them. An interpretation, far wide of what the raconteur intended, was given the tale by one of the little aristocrats of the Encinal City. When asked that night by his father, George Grumons, what he thought of the lecture and how he liked the speaker, the youngster hesitated between a sense of what he knew he was expected to say and his own vigorous impression. Finally, however, he blurted forth: "I guess Mr. Seton Thompson would be IT with the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, but I am too much of an American to stand for skunks, and they are his friends—he said so, and said they're his brothers, too. Why, papa, you won't let us come to table when we have been handling the pony, and he's a peach with skunks."—Wasp.

QUEER POLICE TACTICS

The Stege $10,000 hold up is revealing police and detective tactics that suggest far more danger to the safety of the community than to hold-up men. The supposition has been that a police force and a corps of detectives were maintained to catch criminals and preserve the peace. It has been believed, too, that a great deal of secrecy should be thrown about the movements of law officers when seeking the whereabouts of criminals, but in all that the public has been laboring under a clumsy misapprehension. Seemingly, that is not at all the way the thing is done. On the contrary, the safety of criminals is first provided for them, and then the hue and cry raised. It would be hard to devise a better scheme to secure the criminal class against disturbance by the law, and at the same time blow foghorns of danger to entertain the public.

The wayfaring man, though a fool, could not have failed to notice, that in their quixotic running to and fro to catch the Stege highwaymen, the detectives and police have been careful to first rush off to the newspapers and tell the public all about their new-found clues, pointers and trails, and then set out to make arrests. He is a fool of a hunter who sends some one into the brush to drive out the game before he starts in to shoot something, but that is the way the law officers are hunting for the Stege robbers. Wonder why the police tell all the world today what they are going to do tomorrow? Are they so idiotic as to suppose they are not warning and notifying the robbers to seek more secure shelter? And what do they do it for?

An Oakland woman told the police enough for them to identify the robbers, but instead of keeping the information to themselves and secretly striking the trail, they gave the woman's story to the press, and after the criminals had had plenty of time to govern themselves accordingly, their old, not their new trail, was struck. Later, one of them was seen on the streets, but out of consideration of his dislike for prison cells his promenade was not interrupted, but the fact of his being on the street was duly chronicled in the newspapers, which was the equivalent of advice to not attempt such an unwise thing again; that if he expected the co-operation of the police, to keep out of the penitentiary, he must be more circumspect in his daily habits. It may be that these methods of the police are all right, but if so, the public should be educated up to where their strategic importance lies; otherwise most people will continue to think that the police believe it to be their duty to shield, rather than apprehend, criminals.—News Letter.
